

AVIATRIX RUTH LAW IS SECOND IN WORLD AIR FLIGHT RECORDS

Makes 100 Miles Per Hour From Binghamton To New York

NO-STOP TRIP 590 MILES

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The flight achievement of Miss Ruth Law in covering the distance between Chicago and Hornell, makes her first among all of the women aviators of the world and second counting men as her rivals. The record for non-stop flights is:

First—French Sub-Lieutenant A. Marchal, from Nancy France, to Cholm, Poland, 812.5 miles.

Second—Miss Ruth Law, from Chicago to Hornell, N. Y., 590 miles.

In addition Miss Law holds the American cross-country non-stop record, the greatest previous mileage having been made by Victor Carlstrom in his recent flight of 452 miles from Chicago to Erie, Pa.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Alighting on Governor's Island at exactly 9:27-30 this morning, Miss Ruth Law, by her most recent performance, the world's champion woman aviator, brought her Chicago to New York flight to an end. She completed the last lap of her journey—from Binghamton, N. Y., to Governor's Island—at an average speed of about 100 miles an hour. She left Binghamton at 7:12 today.

Flying at a height of about 1,000 feet, Miss Law was forced to combat a strong wind all the way from Binghamton. When she landed here there were but a few drops of gasoline left in the tank on her machine, despite the fact that she had refilled it at Binghamton.

"I couldn't have gone another thousand yards," she declared as she stepped out of the machine and removed her woolen flyer's cap.

A great crowd was present on Governor's Island to greet the young woman. Major General Leonard Wood, commander of the department of the east, of the army, his aides, Major Hartman and Major Wood, A. G. Wendell and August Post, representing the Aero Club of America, personally congratulated Miss Law as soon as she got out of her machine.

Grouped around on the aviation grounds were scores of young aviation pupils who have not yet obtained their pilot licenses. They gave the young aviatrice a rousing cheer as she brought her machine gracefully to the ground.

"Well done, little girl, we're all proud of you," was General Wood's greeting to Miss Law.

"Thank you, I'm none the worse for wear, as you can see," answered the young woman laughingly.

Miss Law acted as a mail carrier on her last lap. She brought a letter to the New York Rotary Club from Douglas Arthur Reed, a Binghamton artist, and also one to Judge John J. Rooney, from Charles T. Cunningham.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The air yacht has come. Commissioned by the Aero Club of America, a gigantic air-water craft, 54 feet long and 70 feet from tip to tip of her wings, has just been built to make Florida from New York at week-ends and the Bermudas whenever wind and water conditions are especially propitious. At a recent trial 11 passengers were easily carried.

The machine is the last word in luxury. Her cabin is finished in mahogany and her furniture is pigskin upholstered. She has all the electric buttons necessary to summon prompt refreshment services as well as electric searchlights and electric starter. The Curtiss company built the air yacht for the Trans-Oceanic Company, of which Rodman Wanamaker is president. Harry Payne Whitney, however, is said to be the man who authorized her construction and who will be the host on the air voyages scheduled for the near future.

A speed of 80 miles an hour was demanded in the specifications—this meaning a medium going for comfort with passengers.

telling the newspaper men that there is going to be a shortage of turkeys this year. Only 2,000,000 will be shipped north.

"FIVE FILM SERVICE."

"Farmers been making too much money with other crops," he says. "They've been too busy to raise turkeys."

PHILLIP COTTER DIES IN ROOM AT CITY PRISON

Unfortunate Man Falls Down Elevator Shaft in Blattenberg Bldg.

Negligence of the police department resulted fatally to Phillip Cotter, yesterday morning, when he was brought to police headquarters in an intoxicated state and injured condition and allowed to remain there instead of being taken to the City hospital. This is the second case to occur of a similar nature within the past couple of months.

Cotter was found lying at the bottom of the elevator shaft in the Blattenberg building on East Spring street, about 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Plainclothesmen Reed and Billstein answered the call and seeing the condition of the unfortunate man called the ambulance and he was removed to the city prison.

Dr. Steer was called to administer aid to the injured man and found that he was suffering from injuries about the head and face as a result of his fall in the elevator shaft. Police claim that they placed him in a separate room and gave him special care and attention, but the injured man was found dead about 10 o'clock in the morning when Sergeant Snyder visited him to see how he was getting along.

On investigation at police headquarters this morning officials stated that he sustained a fractured skull and broken collarbone. However, the physician who handled the case stated that his injuries were not serious.

GEORGE B. WOOD IS NAMED ADJ. GENERAL

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20.—General George S. Wood of Dayton, has been selected as adjutant general by Governor-elect Cox, according to authoritative announcement made here today. Wood was adjutant general when Cox was governor two years ago. The position pays $3500 and is now held by Acting Adjutant General Bryant, republican. Wood is a democrat. Cox decided upon Wood's appointment before starting on a two weeks hunting trip in Kentucky.

FAMOUS INN BURNS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Fire almost completely destroyed the famous Hollywood Inn at Yonkers today. A man who shouted for help from an upper window and was not rescued is believed to have been a victim of the flames.

The Inn was a $250,000 social club house built for the workmen of Yonkers by the late William F. Cochrane, multi-millionaire philanthropist.

CALIFORNIA SOLID.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—"San Francisco count completed. All California electors absolutely safe." The foregoing telegram was received this afternoon by Vance O. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee, from Gavin McNab, democratic committeeman from California.

BRUNO INJURED IN LITTLE ITALY SHOOTING AFFAIR

Three Men Hold - up Bruno Brothers in Their Home.

One Suspect Being Held in Connection With Latest Battle.

In a shooting affray which took place in "Little Italy" last evening John Bruno sustained two flesh wounds, one in his left side and one in his left arm.

According to police, Carmine Pizzino requested a loan of $500 from John Bruno and the latter's brother, Bartello, refused to comply with the request informing the other that he should have money of his own. After being refused the loan he asked for $500 stating that he would pay it back "when he got his," and again the loan was not granted. The brothers then departed and went to their home.

Shortly afterward it is alleged Pizzino with two other men came to the Bruno home, one had a razor and the other a revolver, and ordered the brothers to hold up their hands, but instead of doing so they put up a fight, in which John was shot.

A call was sent to police headquarters and Pizzino was placed under arrest, but his companions made their escape. Bruno was taken to police headquarters, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Steer. Pizzino was arraigned in criminal court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $10 and costs. He is lodged in the city prison.

John Bruno was shot some months ago by Tony Zinnamosco. The latter was bound over to the grand jury but no indictment was returned.

JUSTICE MOVES WITH SPEED IN MICHIGAN

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 20.—Alfred Culey is on his way to Marquette prison today, less than 24 hours after he shot and killed a daughter of his wife by another marriage. Culey became enraged because of a quarrel with his wife over the girl yesterday, fired a bullet at her and after she had fallen, seriously wounded, crushed her skull with the butt of a rifle. Overcome with remorse and fearing violence at the hands of neighbors he drove to town here and surrendered. Shortly after midnight a special session of court was called, Culey pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

CAPTURE OF MONASTIR BY ALLIES OFFSET BY LOSSES ALONG DANUBE

Germans Move Forward Fifty Miles In Past Two Days on Northeast Line

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The allies' victory at Monastir, in Macedonia, was pushed into the background today by advices from Rumania. The outlook for the salvation of Rumania is blacker than it has been at any other time since the armies of Von Falkenhayn and Von Mackensen began their double drive in September.

Power thrusts within the past 48 hours have driven the Austro-German lines nearly 50 miles into the western part of Rumania.

Austro-German forces have cut the Orsova-Craiova railroad, the only railway line running through Rumania from the east to west. This advance menaces the Rumanian army on the line stretching along the Danube in a southeasterly direction from Orsova and will probably compel its retreat. A retirement of this force will open the way for a brand new invasion of Rumania from Bulgaria, by way of Vidin or Rahova.

The progress of the Austro-Germans in northeastern Rumania is much more difficult. The Rumanians and Russians have massed the bulk of their armies in that zone to prevent Rumania being cut off from Russia. But a decisive victory in that sphere will not be necessary if the Teutons keep up their swift progress across the Rumanian plains. An advance across this stretch of level ground in Central Rumania will put the Austro-Germans in the rear of the armies in the Carpathians and the eastern ranges of the Transylvanian Alps, compelling them to flee.

Heavy battles continue on the Somme front in France. The allies are keeping up their drive on Bapaume, but with a small degree of success. Berlin dwells upon the severity of the allies' losses there.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Bulgarian and German troops that evacuated Monastir have taken up new and powerfully fortified positions in the mountains north of the Macedonian fortress. Despatches from Sofia today say that another great battle is developing there. Monastir is under the fire of German artillery.

SERVIANS ENTER MONASTIR

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Monastir has toward the reconquest of Serbia was fallen to the allies.

To the strains of the Serbian national hymn the remnant of King Peter's army at 8 o'clock this morning marched through the shell-riddled gates of the Macedonian city, when a year ago they fled in panic and hunger before the great Teuton-Bulgarian steam roller.

At the head of the victorious troops rode Crown Prince Alexander, rejuvenator of the little Balkan kingdom's soldiers, and with the Serbians marched French regiments, with whose aid the first great step had been accomplished.

A few minutes after the first battalions had entered the Serbian colors red, blue and white—once more kingdom's soldiers, and with the Serbians marched French regiments, with whose aid the first great step had been accomplished.

BERLIN CLAIMS THRUST OF ALLIES IS AT STANDSTILL

BERLIN, via Sayville, Nov. 20.—The latest great thrust of the allies against our positions on the Somme front has been brought to a complete standstill, writes the military expert of the Overseas News agency today. He declares that the British in their mighty stroke on the Ancre used 120,000 fresh troops, but were able to gain only unimportant advantages.

The Butte de Warlencourt, which dominates one of the Bapaume highways, has been recaptured by the Germans. The resume in full follows: "The great uniform thrust has come completely to a standstill and the general battle has been split into isolated attacks. Small local successes of the attacking enemy cannot be expanded and for the most part they have been lost as the result of German counter attacks."

"The fact that for weeks the same villages have been mentioned again and again in the official German reports as well as the reports of the front is the best proof that the battle on the general Somme front has come to a standstill and that the British as well as the French, are now limited to improving their positions."

"British attacks on the Ancre could not be carried beyond the positions methodically occupied by the defenders (Germans) despite small local successes southwest of Serre and Grandcourt."

"The coveted heights of Serre, after desperate attacks by the enemy, remain in German hands. From Serre itself the Germans were compelled to retire."

"The objective of the grand assault, delivered on November 13 and 14, by three British corps (120,000 men), assisted by extraordinarily strong artillery fire was not limited to the villages of Beaumont Hamel and Beaucourt, but Bapaume. This has been proved not only by orders found but also by the repeated reports of British war correspondents, who have often pointed out that the allies are now within striking distance of Bapaume."

"The failure of these massed thrusts was to be counterbalanced by tenacious and repeated attacks along the Ancre. Especially stubborn as

NEW MAIL RULING.

Second-class mail, weighing 50 pounds or more, will not be delivered to patrons of the Lima post office in the future. The order affects extensive advertisers, who receive newspaper exchanges containing their advertisements. The firm hereafter will be obliged to call for their mail.

The order came to the local post office from the government at Washington.

FORTUNE TELLING ORDINANCE IN LIMA IS NULL AND VOID

Judge Bailey Rules Mayor Had No Jurisdiction in Murray Case.

That the ordinance governing the telling of fortunes is illegal and void and that council had no express authority to enact and pass such an ordinance, was the law as laid down by Judge John P. Bailey, of Ottawa, when, late Saturday, he announced his decision in the case of Mrs. Minnie M. Murray against the City of Lima. Judge Bailey ruled the mayor had no jurisdiction in the case and the city solicitor could not prosecute her. He therefore reversed the decision of mayor's court and vacated and set aside the order of prosecution.

Mrs. Murray, whose place is at 105 1-2 North Union street, told the fortune, with cards, of Mrs. Sara Douglass and charged her 25 cents. Mrs. Douglass wore out the affidavit for the arrest of Mrs. Murray. She said what Mrs. Murray said did not come true nor would. The warrant for arrest charged her with violating one of the city ordinances. Mrs. Murray appealed the case to common pleas court.

Trial was held early last week and on Saturday Judge Bailey rendered his decision.

YOUNG MEN OF THE CHURCH FORM CLUB

Market Street Presbyterians Have New Organization.

Market Street Presbyterian church has a new organization, in the form of a Young Men's club, organized at the home of the Rev. Thomas Knox, pastor. A large attendance of the young men of the church was present, for the meeting.

The proposed organization was explained to the men and an informal discussion of the scope of its usefulness, was held. Paul D. Davis was elected president; Calvin F. Selfridge, vice president, and Ralph P. Mackenzie, secretary and treasurer.

The club adopted as its aims and purposes the following:

First: To interest young men of the Market Street Presbyterian church in active church work.

Second: To make a working force of young men of the church in the interests of the church.

Third: To increase church attendance among young men.

Fourth: To make young men of the church acquainted with each other.

It was decided to leave to the executive committee the drawing up of the tentative plans for some line of study, and it was voted to have meetings on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month from 7 to 8 p. m., for the purpose of serious study.

Further plans of the organization will be announced at the first meeting, which will be held in about two weeks, time and place of meeting to be determined later.

RIVER BONDS ARE SOLD AT A PREMIUM OF $6,951

Bids for the $100,000 river bonds were received this morning and the Spitzer, Rorick and company, of Toledo, was awarded the bonds at a $6,951 premium. A total of 24 bidders competed by sending their estimates to the city auditor.

The money from the bonds will be used in improving the Ottawa river. If the weather continues favorable it is likely that some work will be done on the improvement this winter. Widening and deepening the channel constitutes most of the project.

ERDENE KNIGHT IS VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Erdene Knight, 21 years old, died Sunday night at the city hospital, after an illness from typhoid fever. He had been at the hospital but a short time. The body will probably be accompanied to Mount Blanchard for burial, but since death has been at the Whitley mortuary.

A twin brother, Eugene E. Knight, and a sister, Miss Leona Knight, are left. They reside on North West street.

WOOD PILE TOTAL LOSS.

The central fire department was called to the home of Kathy Marshman, 209 North Elizabeth street, about 2 o'clock to extinguish a blaze which had started in a wood pile in the rear of the residence.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

CELINA, Nov. 20.—N. L. Perry, of Buffalo, N. Y., Ohio and Indiana representative of the Milwaukee company, Chicago, Ill., died at the Otis hospital in this city this afternoon as the result of injuries sustained yesterday afternoon when an automobile he was driving was struck by a limited car on the Western Ohio traction line, just east of this city.

NEW OIL FIELD.

PETERSBURGH, Ind., Nov. 20.—A new oil territory was located by the Ohio Oil company drilling in a 60-barrel well on William Phillips' farm, seven miles west of Petersburg.

MINISTER IS NEXT FLORIDA GOVERNOR

He Urged Prohibition in Speeches and Declared Himself on Religion.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 20.—

Rev. Sidney J. Catts has won the governorship of Florida after one of the bitterest campaigns the Peninsula State ever experienced. He defeated both the regular democratic nominee and the republican aspirant. It was the first public office Catts ever held but not the first for which he ever ran.

Mr. Catts was first heard of in politics 12 years old when he abandoned his calling as Baptist preacher to run for congress in the Fifth Alabama district, against J. Tom Heflin, the noted Alabama orator. Catts didn't carry a county and got but few votes.

Soon after this he moved from Alabama, close to the Florida line, where he participated in politics, seeking office unavailingly. About five years ago he moved into Florida.

He announced himself as a candidate for governor in the democratic primaries, but no one paid much attention to him, until he began a state-wide stump campaign in which he urged state-wide prohibition and favored laws giving the state jurisdiction over religious schools, convents, monasteries and hospitals.

These issues were popular and on the face of the returns he was nominated by a few votes. The nomination was contested and S. V. Knott and in the recount by the democratic committee, a number of Catts votes were thrown out and Knott declared the nominee.

Supported by Tom Watson, the famous Georgia Populist, Catts announced himself as a candidate before the people in the general election and the religious issue was again made prominent. The democratic committee's nominee was repudiated in the city counties of Florida, and Catts was elected by approximately 10,000 votes.

Mr. Catts is about 50 years old and worked at various callings before taking up to the ministry. He is a rugged and picturesque character, apt to take a spade a side effect in the pulpit or the governor's chair. His friends declare he must have polled a fourth more votes than are shown on the face of returns.

The twelve men composing the jury was selected by 11 o'clock this morning. Sherman Eley, sheriff of Allen county, was the first witness called to the stand by Prosecutor Barr and he was being cross-examined at 2 o'clock by attorneys for the defense.

JOINTS FOR THE DEMON.

Old Demon Rum is going to have a hard winter. Look at this:

(1) Four or more states will go dry as a result of the recent election.

(2) Henry Ford offers to show how breweries can make plenty of money distilling non-drunkable fuel alcohol.

(3) New Year's Eve falls on Sunday.

(4) Chicago's mayor will allow only one hour of drinking the night of Dec. 31; New York's mayor says the law will not be stretched an inch to accommodate Father Time.

(5) Under a new law, Washington saloons must be closed from the Saturday before inauguration until the Tuesday after.

(6) William J. Bryan announces he will devote his next four years to putting a prohibition plank in the democratic platform.

(7) The European war, hated alike of vodka, beer and absinthe, looks young yet.

TWO INJURED AS SCAFFOLD FALLS

S. Chambers, 30 years old, member of a crew which was working on a tall stack at the Lima Locomotive plant, fell to the ground this morning when a scaffold upon which the men were working, broke. Chambers sustained an injury to his head and his body was bruised. No bones were broken, examination at the hospital developed, he was removed there by Dr. Williams & Davis and a valid coach.

George E. Barkley one of the crew, also sustained a fall when the scaffold broke. He escaped with bruises and minor cuts. The scaffold was removed from the site at 1216 Robb avenue.

LADIES' AUXILIARY, O. R. C.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Order of Railway Conductors, will hold regular meeting of Lima Division No. 27, Thursday, November 23, at 1 p. m., sharp, by order of the president.

JUDGMENTS CONFESSED.

Al Huysman, John Oseaga and William C. Shenk of Ottoville confessed judgment in court today in the sum of $283.35, in favor of the National Bank of Delphos, on a note for $250.

Fornt and Barney Calvelage of Fort Jennings, confessed judgment for $319 on a note for $300, also in favor of the National Bank of Delphos.

$10,000 SUIT FOR DAMAGES TO OPEN IN COURT TUESDAY

Robert J. Barker Asks That Sum From C. H. & D. Company.

Trial of Robert J. Barker against the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton company for damages in the sum of $10,000 for alleged personal injuries, will start in common pleas court tomorrow morning. Barker, who was employed as engineer on a derrick car of a work train, averse the accident occurred on June 20, 1914, about three and one-half miles south of Wapakoneta.

In his petition, he stated that the lower part of his back and hips were severely bruised and sprained, that he was crushed and bruised about the abdomen and bruised about the bladder trouble resulted.

Barker was caught in the debris when the train was wrecked while running 45 miles an hour. The crane of the car, Barker says, was 30 feet in length and not tied down, causing the car to rock and leave the track. He is alleged in his petition the road was devoid of proper ballast, had rotten ties and uneven joints and that proper care was not manifested by running a train over the road at such a high rate of speed.

More than a score of witnesses have been called and the case is expected to last several days. Judge William Klingler will preside and a jury will hear the testimony and arguments.

The trial of Eddie Hall, charged with attacking an officer with intent to lynch a prisoner began at Ottawa this morning, with Judge Bailey sitting on the bench. It is alleged that Hall was a member of the mob which attacked the home of Sheriff Eley and later attempted to lynch the official when he refused to disclose the hiding place of Charles Daniels, colored, held on a charge of criminal assault.

SET JURY IN HALL TRIAL AT OTTAWA; WITNESS CALLED

Official figures on the Fourth Congressional district and the Thirty-second senatorial district are still delayed by the fact that Mercer county's abstract is still out. It was sent in once but the local board of elections sent it back for correction, as was one with the abstracts of half a dozen counties in the congressional, judicial or senatorial districts. The report is expected tomorrow and will complete the count for the congressional and state senatorial races.

United States Senator Atlee Pomerene, Governor Frank B. Willis, Congressman-elect John S. Snook of the Fifth district, former Congressman Ralph Dayton Cole of Findlay and the Rev. A. S. Watkins of Columbus Grove, prohibition candidate for the United States senatorship in the recent election, will be the speakers at the Columbus Grove crowd dinner tomorrow night. With seats provided for 400 and plenty of heavyweight oratory from the emphatic Pomerene and the extraneously audible Willis, the democrats of the Putnam county town will be entertained at the McCrete garage with food for thought as well as nutriment for the system.

The crowd dinner idea, long an institution at Ottawa for the Putnam county folk, will not be observed at the county seat this year. The victory in county, state and nation is too big for one dinner, according to the reports, for there has already been a crowd feed at Leipsic and the one at Columbus Grove is caring for the hungry politicians of the southern end of the county.

The crowd will be served at six o'clock, and the addresses at seven. Judge A. M. Holdreugh will preside as toastmaster, and has been the head of the organization committee arranging the details of the affair. Dr. E. A. Palmer is chairman of the reception committee. A number of Lima and Allen county democrats will attend.

Inasmuch as Senator Pomerene and Governor Willis are on the ballot list, with Judge Snook to talk horse sense and Ralph Cole to furnish fireworks, the meeting ought to attract state-wide attention in political circles. Willis might say something important—and the state still wants Pomerene to tell how he overcame the Cleveland dollar sign two weeks ago.

AT LEAST ONE CROP IS STRONG IN OHIO

Output of Onions is More Than Five Times Last Season's.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—Persons who have an olfactory prejudice against the onion will learn with chagrin, if they will read a report just issued by the department of agriculture, that the Ohio output of that impressive vegetable this year is enormous.

No other state in the union approaches this year in the production of onions and the crop is entitled to the first rank in the bumper class.

The department's estimate of the Ohio onion crop this year is 1,445,109 bushels, more than five times the size of last year's 0.11 onion crop, which was 272,034 bushels.

The area planted to onions in Ohio this year was 5,217 acres and the average harvested is 5,217. The yield is 277 bushels to the acre as against a yield of 102 bushels to the acre last year.

The total yield of onions in the United States this year is estimated at 6,417,183 bushels, so that Ohio is given credit for producing more than one fifth of all the onions raised in the United States. "Some one," says the department experts, "is doing it."

And what makes the yield seem so big is the remarkable fact that only eleven Ohio counties in the onion belt are included in this estimate. They are Huron, Ashtabula, Huron, Erie, Lucas, Medina, Portage, Stark, Summit, Wayne and Wyandot.

Al Huysman, John Oseaga and William C. Shenk of Ottoville confessed judgment in court today in the sum of $283.35, in favor of the National Bank of Delphos, on a note for $250.

Fornt and Barney Calvelage of Fort Jennings, confessed judgment for $319 on a note for $300, also in favor of the National Bank of Delphos.

THE IDLER

The Western Ohio Railway Company is complying with the ordinance passed by the city council ordering the abandonment and wrecking of the bridge over the Ottawa river near the City park. It was deemed by the city engineer as an obstruction of the flow of the river.

No bids have yet been submitted for the $100,000 river bonds which were authorized April 25. However, bids on the olds are to be received today.

Melvin C. Light, first Lieutenant of Company C returned to Lima Saturday night from the Mexican border. He is on a furlough and states that the company is receiving much benefit from the workout on the border.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Without a second of warning, the boiler of the tugboat Rambler exploded today in the East river, killing two persons and injuring nine. Two others missing are thought to have sunk with the debris of the boat.

The dead are Captain Eugene Casey, the commander of the tug, and Andrew Pitts, the engineer. It was Casey's first day aboard the craft. The missing are Frederick Zaane, a deckhand, and Frank Estabrook, a boatman.

The Williamsburg water front was covered with the wreckage of the boat. Ambulances were rushed from the Green Point hospital. Hundreds hurried to the spot thinking that relatives or friends were among the dead or missing. The shock of the explosion shattered the windows of the Chelsea Fibre company's mill near which 1,000 girls are employed. For a few moments there was danger of panic, but the coolness of firemen reassured the employees.

A number of Lima and Allen county democrats will attend.

Inasmuch as Senator Pomerene and Governor Willis are on the ballot list, with Judge Snook to talk horse sense and Ralph Cole to furnish fireworks, the meeting ought to attract state-wide attention in political circles. Willis might say something important—and the state still wants Pomerene to tell how he overcame the Cleveland dollar sign two weeks ago.

THE IDLER

The Western Ohio Railway Company is complying with the ordinance passed by the city council ordering the abandonment and wrecking of the bridge over the Ottawa river near the City park. It was deemed by the city engineer as an obstruction of the flow of the river.

No bids have yet been submitted for the $100,000 river bonds which were authorized April 25. However, bids on the olds are to be received today.

Melvin C. Light, first Lieutenant of Company C returned to Lima Saturday night from the Mexican border. He is on a furlough and states that the company is receiving much benefit from the workout on the border.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Without a second of warning, the boiler of the tugboat Rambler exploded today in the East river, killing two persons and injuring nine. Two others missing are thought to have sunk with the debris of the boat.

The dead are Captain Eugene Casey, the commander of the tug, and Andrew Pitts, the engineer. It was Casey's first day aboard the craft. The missing are Frederick Zaane, a deckhand, and Frank Estabrook, a boatman.

The Williamsburg water front was covered with the wreckage of the boat. Ambulances were rushed from the Green Point hospital. Hundreds hurried to the spot thinking that relatives or friends were among the dead or missing. The shock of the explosion shattered the windows of the Chelsea Fibre company's mill near which 1,000 girls are employed. For a few moments there was danger of panic, but the coolness of firemen reassured the employees.

Official figures on the Fourth Congressional district and the Thirty-second senatorial district are still delayed by the fact that Mercer county's abstract is still out. It was sent in once but the local board of elections sent it back for correction, as was one with the abstracts of half a dozen counties in the congressional, judicial or senatorial districts. The report is expected tomorrow and will complete the count for the congressional and state senatorial races.

United States Senator Atlee Pomerene, Governor Frank B. Willis, Congressman-elect John S. Snook of the Fifth district, former Congressman Ralph Dayton Cole of Findlay and the Rev. A. S. Watkins of Columbus Grove, prohibition candidate for the United States senatorship in the recent election, will be the speakers at the Columbus Grove crowd dinner tomorrow night. With seats provided for 400 and plenty of heavyweight oratory from the emphatic Pomerene and the extraneously audible Willis, the democrats of the Putnam county town will be entertained at the McCrete garage with food for thought as well as nutriment for the system.

The crowd dinner idea, long an institution at Ottawa for the Putnam county folk, will not be observed at the county seat this year. The victory in county, state and nation is too big for one dinner, according to the reports, for there has already been a crowd feed at Leipsic and the one at Columbus Grove is caring for the hungry politicians of the southern end of the county.

The crowd will be served at six o'clock, and the addresses at seven. Judge A. M. Holdreugh will preside as toastmaster, and has been the head of the organization committee arranging the details of the affair. Dr. E. A. Palmer is chairman of the reception committee. A number of Lima and Allen county democrats will attend.

Inasmuch as Senator Pomerene and Governor Willis are on the ballot list, with Judge Snook to talk horse sense and Ralph Cole to furnish fireworks, the meeting ought to attract state-wide attention in political circles. Willis might say something important—and the state still wants Pomerene to tell how he overcame the Cleveland dollar sign two weeks ago.

LEIPSIC VISITED BY $8,000 FIRE

A fire which originated in C. R. Besser's restaurant, at Leipsic, early Sunday morning, resulted in $8,000 damage to buildings in the heart of the business section of the city before it was under control.

In addition to the restaurant building which was entirely destroyed along with the contents the following business houses were damaged: Samuel Albert's blacksmith shop, Molly McIntyre's milliner shop, and the headquarters of the Boy Scouts in the Besser building.

PASTORS FAVOR ADVERTISING TO PROMOTE CHURCHES

The Rev. C. S. Bucher Tells of Profitable Use of Display Ads.

That publicity is an asset to any church and that it enhances the general good and gives the church a real edge in the community, while also showing that the church is an institution that has something worth while to offer to the public, was the opinion offered in the paper given this forenoon by the Rev. C. S. Bucher, before the Lima Pastors' union, held at the Y. M. C. A. building. Eighteen pastors attended. Dr. Shannon, here for the Sunday school institute, and the Rev. V. Hayes Miller, former pastor of the South Side Church of Christ, were visitors.

The Rev. Mr. Bucher, as pastor of the First Congregational church, has a paid display advertisement in the newspapers of the city. He tells of his Sunday night sermons, when illustrated lectures are given and a reel of instructive moving pictures accompany the same. He has filled his church from auditorium to Sunday school room as a result.

In the general discussion that followed, the opinion of the ministers all favored church publicity and that kind, too, which dealt with paid advertising matter.

The Rev. Webster C. Spayde, president, was in the chair. The Rev. L. R. Mitchell is secretary of the union.

MASONIC DANCE TUESDAY.

ROTARY ENJOYS PROGRAM THAT IS VARIED ONE

An informal program furnished excellent entertainment for Rotarians and their guests at the regular luncheon at the Lima House today. Rotarian Calvert, accompanied by Miss Bertha Falk furnished the musical program during the luncheon.

In the absence of President Wemmer, vice-president D. J. Cable presided, and called upon each rotarian to introduce himself, give his business and telephone number. The telephone call gave rise to much amusement, as about fifty per cent. of the members hesitated when it came to the phone call.

Joseph B. Mayer, of Buffalo, New York, former president and general manager of the Lima Electric Light and Power company, was introduced by Walter B. Ritchie. Mr. Mayer gave an interesting expression of his faith in Lima and its progress and expressed pleasure and surprise at her growth.

Other guests were H. W. Pears, of the Lima Business college, guest of Rotarian Clinton Sealts, John Moore of Greenfield, Ohio, guest of Rotarian W. H. Moore.

Rotarian Friley was asked if there is any truth in the report that Henry Ford expects to buy all the breweries in Detroit and turn them into Ford factories. Friley was asked to the occasion and stated that Ford had been making extensive experiments and investigations and found that breweries could be turned into alcohol factories at very little expense and that alcohol is destined to become a fuel for automobiles.

Charles Schulteis, Mack Alschuler, M. Gordon and George Matheany responded to pertinent questions to the amusement and instruction of the gathering.

BEGIN PROBE OF ALL RAILWAY LINES IN UNITED STATES

First Step Toward Government Ownership of Transportation.

Joint Committee of House and Senate is in Charge of the Work.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The most complete and thorough investigation of transportation conditions in the United States ever undertaken by the federal government was begun here today before a joint congressional committee.

The inquiry may prove to be the first serious step toward government ownership of the vast railroad systems of the country, for the committee, under a resolution passed by the last session of congress is directed to give particular attention to this question.

The committee will inquire into the present system of railroad regulation and control through the Interstate Commerce Commission, the financial and transportation problems confronting the railroads, and the feasibility of government ownership and operation.

Under this last head the committee will also look into possible government ownership of telegraph, and telephone companies, express companies and other public utilities.

A joint sub-committee of ten, five members of the senate interstate commerce committee and five members of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, were in charge of the investigation when hearings were begun today. They were: Senators Newlands of Nevada, chairman; Robinson of Arkansas, Underwood of Alabama, democrats; and Cummins of Iowa and Brandegee of Connecticut, republicans; Representatives Adamson of Georgia, vice-chairman; Sim of Tennessee, and Cullip of Indiana, democrats; and Fitch of Wisconsin and Hamilton of Michigan, republicans.

Probably the problem of most pressing and immediate importance which will be considered by the committee is that of regulating the wages and hours of labor of employees of the railroads of the country. This problem growing out of the threatened strike of operating employees of the railroads, narrowly averted by the eight-hour day law put through congress in the closing hours of the last session, will be thoroughly threshed out by the committee.

While a special commission, headed by Major General George W. Goethals, has been named by the president to observe the working out of the federal eight-hour law, the joint sub-committee will go into the whole problem of railroad wages. The probability of agitation for the enactment of the coming session of the measures recommended by the president the last session of congress, will force a thorough probe of this question. In an outline of the matters to be taken up by the investigation, the committee asked prospective witnesses to discuss the following question:

"Whether or not any regulation is feasible of the wages and hours of labor of employees of common carriers and whether or not it is advisable, in the interests of the public and with a view to maintaining uninterrupted commerce between the states, to take any further legislative action regarding the adjustment of disputes between the carriers and their employees and regarding strikes and lock-outs."

Under this head all of the matters in dispute between the railroads and their employees will be considered, and both the railroads and the operating brotherhoods will be represented by witnesses. The National Railway Executives Advisory Committee, represented by its general counsel, Alfred P. Thom, was on hand today, with a formidable list of witnesses and a mass of statistical and argumentative data, to present the railroad's side of the case.

In addition to these witnesses the committee will hear representatives of the United States Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of State Railway Commissioners, public utility commissions, freight and traffic associations, the Interstate Commerce Commission, Manufacturers' Association, the Farmers' Cooperative Association, and various other organizations.

The committee will work under pressure, with rapid fire hearings, long hours and short recesses, designed to cover the entire wide scope of the inquiry as rapidly as possible. Under the resolution authorizing the investigation, the committee must present a report to congress by the second Monday in January 1917, and every effort will be made to avoid any necessity for asking congress for further time. Among the subjects outlined by the committee for inquiry are:

Whether the Interstate Commerce Commission is overloaded and whether its jurisdiction should be limited and restricted.

Whether efficiency and prompt disposal of controversies demands a reorganization of the commission, with various departments assigned to fixed traffic areas throughout the country.

Whether the present system of railroad credit is adequate for the conduct and improvement of the railroads; whether the federal government should undertake the supervision of railroad security issues, either by absolute control or through publicity.

What effect on the railroads and the public the dual control of railroads rates by the state and federal governments has.

Whether legislation is desirable for the federal incorporation of interstate railroads, and what form such legislation should take.

Stomach Troubles.

Persons who have stomach trouble are apt to become discouraged. They will see by the following that their chances of recovery are excellent. A. K. Williams, Independence, Va., tells of a remarkable cure that was effected in that vicinity. One of his customers was so badly afflicted with stomach trouble that he was sent to a hospital, but received little benefit and came home to die. Mr. Williams suggested that he try Chamberlain's Tablets which he did, and today he is a well man and weighs 175 pounds. Obtainable everywhere.

K. C.'s TO HEAR STATE SPEAKER.

At the regular meeting of Lima Council No. 486, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday evening, Supreme Special Agent P. — McCarthy of Toledo, will be present to talk to the members on matters of importance. There will also be a smoker.

RUMMAGE SALE AT COURT HOUSE TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

LARGER WARSHIP IS NOT DIFFICULT

No Great Structural Problem in Building One of 40,000 Tons.

Chief Obstacle is Depth of Water in Ports Like New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The rumor that Great Britain is building a 40,000-ton battleship is neither improbable nor altogether surprising. Since 1913 the Germans have put into service three merchant ships registering more than 50,000 tons each, and the English one of 47,000 tons. The principles involved are the same for a large ship as for a small one, while the use for building material of a steel whose tensile strength is easily ascertainable, removes any uncertainties such as the employment of wood might entail.

But while it would be comparatively easy to build a battleship of 60,000 or 70,000 tons she would have to be built with due regard to the necessity of leaving and entering port. The port of New York has less than 40 feet of water at its entrance on high tide. The largest ship afloat, like the Vaterland and the Bismarck, draw from 32 to 35 feet when loaded; accordingly they can enter and leave the port of New York only on high tide. Therefore a battleship which draws more than 35 feet would find serious difficulty in entering this harbor. In the case of the United States another limitation is imposed by the locks of the Panama canal, which will not take a vessel above 60,000 tons.

For 20 years the tendency has been toward a progressive increase in the size of battleships. The impetus to the building of bigger battleships was given by the Spanish-American war. At the outbreak of that war in 1898 our largest battleship was the Iowa of 11,346 tons. The Oregon measured only 10,288 tons. Great Britain was then not far ahead of us. She had several ships afloat of the Magnificent type registering 14,900 tons and two of 15,000 tons laid down. Germany, which had not yet entered on her program of naval expansion, was behind us, her largest battleship, the Kaiser Friedrich III being of only 10,790 tons. Japan had one battleship, the Fuji, bigger than any of ours, being 12,300 tons; France had one ship, the Carnot, of 12,150 tons.

With the beginning of the present century Great Britain set the pace of increase and was closely followed by Germany. In 1905 she launched the King Edward VII, heralded as the largest and most powerful ship afloat, and the king himself commissioned her. Still her tonnage was only 16,350. Her principal battery consisted of four 12-inch guns, which according to English authorities, could throw a projectile 25 miles. In view of our present knowledge the range of her guns seems to have been somewhat exaggerated. Still she was a formidable ship for her day; yet she was a weakling compared with the battleship Queen Elizabeth, completed in 1915, which measured 27,500 tons and carried eight 15-inch guns.

The battle cruiser Tiger, also completed in 1915, is the largest ship on the British register heretofore made public. Her tonnage is 28,000, but being an battle cruiser, her armament is not so heavy as that of the Queen Elizabeth. Her main battery carries eight 13-inch guns and her rated speed is 28 knots—three more than that of the Queen Elizabeth.

Latterly America has outstripped all competitors in size of ships. The Pennsylvania, laid down in 1913, and the Arizona, laid down in 1914, each of 31,400 tons, have been completed, while the Idaho, Mississippi and California, of 32,000 tons each, are building. The armament of these newer ships is also heavier than any other afloat. In their main battery they carry twelve 14-inch breechloading rifles, and in their secondary batteries 25 5-inch rapid fire guns.

It is true that this latest output of Great Britain is believed to be armed with ten-inch guns, and that the newest German battleships of the Ersatz Worth type (28,000 tons) are said to be armed with eight 15-inch guns, yet the weight of metal thrown by one of our new ships is certainly much greater than that of the Germans, and possibly also than that of the newest British ship. We are now perfecting an 18-inch gun, and the British are said to be experimenting with a 20-inch gun.

As to the secondary armament of our new ships it is pertinent to recall that in actual battle the greatest destruction has been wrought by the lighter guns, which come into action at close range. Proof of this is found in the havoc wrought by the lighter guns of the cruiser Brooklyn on the Viscaya in the battle of Santiago. The captain of the Viscaya said after the battle that he had not thought it possible for a vessel of the Brooklyn's armament to inflict such damage.

GIRL BEATEN BY HALF DOZEN MATES

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 20.—Police are looking today for half a dozen young men who last night attacked Margaret Petro, 28, a stenographer, dressed her with clubs and threw her into the icy waters of Herrou's Pond. Miss Petro is in a serious condition.

Half senseless from the loss of blood, the girl dragged herself through the thin ice skirting the pond and staggered three blocks to her home, where she collapsed. The gang failed to get $92 saved in a secret pocket in the girl's cloak.

NEW YORK DRY BY 1920 IS PREDICTION OF RECTOR CHALMERS

Declares the Present Laws Would Close 2,000 Saloons in Metropolis Alone.

Episcopal Convention Favors Total Abstinence and State Prohibition.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—"Little old New York will be dry by 1920 or forced to go out on the Atlantic to get its drinks."

This prediction by the Rev. J. V. Chalmers, rector of Holy Trinity church, set New York thinking today. The liquor men were especially interested. While some jeered at the idea of this stronghold of alcohol becoming "white" territory, many privately admitted they agreed with the general trend of the clergyman's remarks, while believing it might take longer to force the change than the four years he granted.

More stringent laws and other causes have greatly reduced the number of saloons in New York this year. In the whole state 600 went out of business on October 1 last. Only part of the cities of the state have the right to say whether they shall be wet or dry, but a stronger fight for a state-wide option law will be made in the next session of the legislature at Albany.

Saloonkeepers agree their business is less profitable than ever before. For one thing, the moving picture theatres hurt them. The working-man takes his whole family to see the films instead of carousing in the neighborhood inn while his wife and children sit at home wondering when and in what condition he will return.

Dr. Chalmers' striking prediction was made at the convention of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York. He exhibited a map showing there are 170 saloons within an area of three quarters of a mile around his church, which is in East Eighty-eighth street. These saloons took in last year, he said, more than $3,107,000.

If the city officials would enforce the present liquor laws, he added, at least 2,000 of the 10,000 saloons in the city would be put out of business.

After a long discussion, in which the Rev. Philip W. Fauntleroy of St. Luke's, Beacon, declared that "people cannot by legislation be induced to refrain from drinking," the convention went clearly on record for total abstinence and a state option prohibition bill. The resolution adopted read:

"That this convention, through its Social Service commission, declares its readiness to co-operate with all active temperance forces in urging total abstinence for individuals, in endeavoring to have the present liquor laws enforced, and in favoring any legislation, such as an optional prohibition bill, which will give the people of this state in cities or towns a chance to speak for themselves on the question of license or no license."

LABORER FINDS MINE WORTH A MILLION.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—A Pomona man who worked for $2.50 a day on a steam roller for the city, but who quit several months ago and went to Missouri, is reported to be worth nearly $1,000,000. The man, Matt Coyle, more than 50 years old, was a miner before he moved to California ten years ago. In a letter to his daughter, who lives in Pomona, he said he had discovered a lead mine near Joplin, Mo., where he worked years ago, and that he had interested capital in developing the property. He said the mine promised to yield enough lead at the present high prices to make him a fortune of almost $1,000,000.

THE SECOND TERM AN EMERGENCY?

With the election of President Wilson on a platform of advanced ideas aiming at progressive legislation, under circumstances hitherto unknown in American political annals, there is presented to the nation the unquestioned beginning of a new era in national ideals. Returned to the White House against heavy pluralities of the great financial and manufacturing states, without the aid of the large cities and in the face of powerful opposition among the vested financial interests of the United States, Wilson enters his second term as the creature of the West, the South and the broad Northwest. This coalition of sections, uniting a multitude of influences into a common movement against the supremacy of the East and New England, is not only new in American politics, but revolutionary in its effects.

Never before has the West been able to get proper recognition. Her candidates have been snubbed by conventions and crushed when nominated. Progressive ideas launched in the West have been branded as ultra-radical in Wall Street, New York, in Beacon street, Boston, and in Independence Square, Philadelphia. The South has been flouted as the home of rebellion, and some of the greatest statesmen of the generation have been ignored in public circles because of their father's connection with the Stars and Bars. The Northwest, home of the original insurgents who fought Cannon and Aldrich when the Democrats were not able to aid, has been the object of sneers and jeers, and such advanced legislators as Cummins and Dooliver of Iowa, La Follette of Wisconsin, Nelson and Clapp of Minnesota, and the rest of the former Bull Moose leaders, have been unable to command respect in their own party or in the conservative councils of the opposition.

Today we see the trans-Mississippi territory solidly united against the money power of the East. President Wilson enters his second term with the issues of his first administration all cleaned up, the slate clean and the wheels of legislation ready to move toward more remedial and beneficial work. For the first time in American history the nation has been able to overcome the power of money in politics.

President Wilson enters his new term with no obligations to any one. He is not bound by obligations to any group of voters. His remarkable popular vote, the greatest in American history, is merely an endorsement of his course and a recommendation for its continuance. Through the obsolete and clumsy electoral college, a relic of the days when Hamilton feared the popular vote, Wilson was almost robbed out of his second term, but in the face of the great vote cast for him November 7 it would be impossible to deny the endorsement.

Under these conditions, with plenty of good timber for the construction of one of the best cabinets ever selected, there is no reason why the president cannot complete his administration with the most remarkable record ever made by an American executive. With the exception of the close political complexion of the lower house of the national legislature, and the G. O. P. forces apparently in control by a slight margin, the road is clear for the next four years.

That the coming four years will produce more monuments such as the federal reserve banking system, the child labor bill, the Adamson bill, the Underwood tariff, the rural credits act and the shipping measure is now more of a probability than a possibility. And if such is the case, the party will go down in history as productive of more good work in eight years than has been evolved by the Federalists in twelve, the antebellum Democrats in forty-eight, the Whigs in twenty or the Republicans in sixty-six. It is a record worth attempting.

BOTANICAL GARDEN AT ST. LOUIS HAS RARE COLLECTION

Every Flower that Bloomed in Shakespeare's Yard is Shown.

Remarkable Aggregation Was Started by Henry Shaw Long Ago.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 20.—At a recent Shakespeare celebration here, a feature of the tercentenary, one of the most interesting exhibits was a great collection of flowers in bloom—a collection that included every blossom ever mentioned in Shakespeare's plays. This in itself was unusual, but hardly unprecedented. Two or three enthusiastic wealthy Shakespeare lovers in the past have collected and cultivated Shakespeare gardens, where all the flowers that the poet mentioned even most casually were represented. But while gardens of Shakespeare flowers have been brought to bloom before, no garden like the one in which they bloomed here in St. Louis can be found elsewhere.

It has an impressive title—the Missouri Botanical Gardens—but heretofore nobody talks of that. They call it Shaw's garden, as it is fitting and proper, because it is Shaw's garden, though Henry Shaw has been dead these 27 years. Yet the stamp of his personality is over it all—the stamp of a kindly nature that loved trees and growing things, that felt with man and God, "A garden is a lovely thing, God wot," and that garden he had worked over all his life and the entire estate that he had gathered in the same time as a free gift to the public.

Henry Shaw must have loved his garden, for he left minute directions and a special bequest in his will providing that his city residence should be torn down and carried brick by brick to the garden, and there erected. Brick by brick the house was moved, and now it stands where he wanted to see it. That same love for green and growing things must have made him want to share the pleasure he took in them; he died a bachelor, and he made the whole nation, the whole world in fact, his heirs. Anyone who cares to can enjoy his garden, and it is probably the best thing of its sort to be found anywhere. It is in fact of the garden that an article such as this should treat, and not of Henry Shaw who has been dead these seven-and-twenty years, but the man left the stamp of himself over all the groves and flower-houses, until you would not be surprised to meet him in some leafy turning today.

His house is here, that was moved brick by brick as he directed, and his mausoleum. There is an effigy of him too, off in a corner of the grounds, with the stone legs crossed like the legs of a Crusader in some church in his native Yorkshire, and maxims chiseled into the pedestal. "Ignorance is the curse of God," he wanted his garden to become above all things educational to the people, and on that plan its thousands varied plants are selected and arranged today. There it is a stern severity about that motto that does not answer entirely to the conception of a nature whose chief delight was in flowers and growing things. They have just torn down one of the last two of the original greenhouses to make room for a more modern structure; and in the tumbled brick and stone are the fragments of a line that was carved over the door. "Peace on earth, good will to men," that line must have read, for on the fragments you can still read "peace and good will." One hopes that they will put the old motto over the new house. Out of shrubs and trees and bits of stone, a picture of the old owner of the gardens begins to emerge. If ever a garden is haunted, this one must be.

Shaw was an Englishman, a Sheffield man, and hence a trader in cutlery and hardware by birthright. He came to St. Louis in the early days, in the old-time way, up the Mississippi. He built up a big hardware business and prospered and built him a country home where the Gardens now stand. He was always interested in trees and plants, acquaintances with some of the most prominent botanists and horticulturists of 50 years ago gave his interest a fresh stimulus, and his increasing income gave him a chance to indulge it.

He began to make his garden a thing that men talked about, and to go farther and farther afield in search of rare specimens. For a time he tried to bring to his grounds a representative of every tree that it should be possible to raise in the latitude and climate of St. Louis. As he grew older, his garden came to absorb him. When he died he left it as a public place, and over 100,000 people visit it annually. He left his estate of over $3,000,000 as the source of an income to keep it up and improve it. The estate it worth nearer $7,000,000 now.

As for the garden, it is a high walled place of clam and quiet, filled with rare trees and shrubs whose names and characteristics the curious may read on the labels. The main idea of the exhibits is that they shall be educational; much space is given to both outdoors and in the greenhouses to showing the unfamiliar plants native to far-away latitudes on whose fruits and products are dependent for half the things we use every day. In this class are the coffee and the date, the rattan and the oil palm, and a hundred others.

The orchids are the most striking display, even though a score of other blooms outnumber them. The orchid is the symbol of all that is exotic and tropic, from the heavy moist air in which it thrives, to the languorous droop of the flower on the stem. They are beautiful flowers; it is easy to understand how men have spent their lives and lost their lives seeking for rare varieties in the depths of steaming jungles. Here each flower is tended and grown in seclusion, in a little solitary cell, like an Oriental beauty is some recess of the harem. Only when it has attained the full beauty of its flower is it brought forth and put on exhibition in the public alcove with a dozen other varieties. All the common orchids are here, besides some of the rare ones—those that are well enough known to have familiar names like lady's slipper, butterfly, dove and bucket, and the white beauty that the Spaniards named the Holy Spirit.

The orchids are wonders, but they do not seem to be the sort of thing that Henry Shaw would have spent the most of his time over. Still less would he have been drawn, you feel, to some of the still more exotic and outlandish freaks of the vegetable kingdom that they have gathered here and there—the pitcher plant for instance, or the plant that bears a rough green flower shaped like the neck of a monstrous goose and gives forth an insufferable odor of decaying flesh. This odor attracts the flies, that the plant needs to perform the same office of pollination that bees perform for less odorous blossoms. If you held your nose and dissect the blossom of the goose plant, you will find one of the nearest and most intricately ingenious fly-traps you can imagine formed by the bends and turnings of its structure. No fly that once starts to explore gets a chance to turn back.

Sometimes the strange plants are more than beautiful, and sometimes the effects are wrought out with skill and a patience for detail that brings the gardens of far-away lands here to Missouri with hardly a change of a line. There is an Italian garden, and two Japanese gardens with gold-fish ponds and floating lily-pads, and two great weather-worn Japanese stone lanterns thousands of years old. Better than all of these is the flower-house where every month a bank of difference blooms fills the beds, like act after act in a pageant. Chrysanthemums, clematis, polyanthias, primroses, azaleas, lilacs, hyacinths, narcissus—all the familiar flowers succeed each other, more beautiful than the exotic blossoms because they come like old friends.

The gardens within and without are tended with a wealth of care that would satisfy the man who planted the first seeds in them. Experts say that they are models of their kind, but to the layman all gardens are things of beauty. To him the most striking feature of the gardens is that they stand for the life work of a man, and that they have been deeded in perpetuity to anyone who cares to enjoy them, who is so constructed that he can take pleasure in simple things that grow and bloom.

PREDICTS COLD WILL SEND NEGROES SOUTH AGAIN
ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 20.—It has been generally believed in Atlanta that a large number of negroes had felt the mysterious call of the north in the weeks preceding the national election. The total number from this city alone is said to be fully 2,500 and this is light as compared with the inroads made on some sections.

Many residents of this city have recalled a similar exodus of negroes to the north about ten years ago. These persons feel confident all the blacks who have left their homes will find their way back before many weeks have passed, for, they say, it was zero weather that made them return before. With the coming of snow and freezing weather conditions, it is believed the negroes will return.

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

How Mrs. Kelly Suffered and How She was Cured.

Burlington, Wis.—"I was very irregular, and had pains in my side and back, but after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and using two bottles of the Sanative Wash I am fully convinced that I am entirely cured of these troubles, and feel better all over. I know your remedies have done me worlds of good and I hope every suffering woman will give them a trial."—Mrs. Anna Kelly, 710 Chestnut Street, Burlington, Wis.

The many convincing testimonials constantly published in the newspapers ought to be proof enough to women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they need.

GOVERNMENT INVENTORS GIVE PATENTS TO PEOPLE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Scientists of the department of agriculture are constantly making valuable discoveries and inventions, which are given to the American people free of charge under "public service" patents. The department today gave out a long list of these inventions developed in the last fiscal year. Some of the inventions, with their devices are:

Orelin R. Rogers, apparatus for recording duration of rainfall; Frank F. Chase, gravity fruit separator; Howard C. Pierce, poultry-pickling frames; Wm. H. Mast, planting board; Emil G. Bournier, device for sampling, mixing and blending seed, flour, meat and other like material; Herbert C. Gore and Charles G. Townsend, process for making sirup from sugar beets; Marlon Dorset and Howard J. Shore, process for the manufacture of concentrated hog-cholera anti-toxin; Marion Gilbert Donk, process for producing high-grade rosin from low-grade rosin; Herbert H. Banzel, thermostat.

'HOLD YOUR GRAIN' MOVEMENT UNDER PROBE IN THE U.S.

Department of Justice Will Push Prompt Investigation.

Senator Chamberlain Prepares Bill for Direct Election of President.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The department of justice today is watching the "hold your grain" movement that has spread into northwestern United States from Canada. United States District Attorney Cline at Chicago has forwarded a preliminary report to the department, declaring that the propaganda is in some degree responsible for the rising cost of flour and bread.

Agents of the Canadian Farmers' organization are declared to be urging American farmers to join in the movement to hold up grain, succeeding in some degree.

Attorney General Gregory today was considering the question of whether there is ground for prosecution under the general conspiracy in the states.

Chief Bruce Bielaski of the bureau of investigation, today declared that as soon as his agents wind up their work in gathering election fraud evidence they will turn more attention to the general food price investigation which was begun recently. The election fraud work is practically completed.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 20.—Senator George E. Chamberlain will introduce at the coming session of congress a proposed constitutional amendment providing for the election of president by direct vote of the people, according to a formal statement issued today.

The statement says that he hopes to have it acted upon in time to become effective four years hence.

"The recent election demonstrated more strongly than ever the desirability of electing the president by direct vote," says the statement. "If 5,000 votes in California had been changed that state would have gone for Hughes and he would have been elected, notwithstanding 400,000 more votes were cast in the nation for Wilson than for Hughes."

BENJAMIN JACKSON DIES AT DISTRICT HOSPITAL

Benjamin F. Jackson, 66 years old, died early Sunday morning at the district tuberculosis hospital, southwest of the city, where he had been a patient for the last few weeks. His wife died some years ago. He is survived by four children.

Mrs. John McGuire, of 524 South Central avenue, Mrs. Emma Cross of Dayton, Mrs. Marion Johnson, of Leesburg, Ohio, are daughters, and William F. Jackson, of 122 West Kibby street, is a son. Mrs. Lewis Rash, of Minnesota, and John Jackson, of Delaware, are sister and brother. Eight grandchildren are also left.

The Rev. A. D. Welty will conduct the funeral services, to be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the daughter, Mrs. John McGuire, of 524 South Central avenue. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

WILL IS SET ASIDE.

The jury which today heard the trial of Peter A. Barnes against Charles Hamilton, returned a verdict to set aside the will. The trial was of short duration. The court was to decide the legality of a certain paper filed as the last will and testament of a relative of Mrs. Hamilton. The paper was admitted to probate court as the last will. Barnes took the matter to common pleas from probate court.

PLANS MADE FOR A DRY CAMPAIGN IN OHIO THIS WINTER

Anti-Saloon League Begin Agitation for Federal Amendment.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20.—(Claiming that sentiment throughout Ohio is overwhelmingly in favor of a dry campaign, officers of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league today declared that there is hardly any doubt but that the league's trustees at their annual meeting here on January 16 will declare in favor of submitting to the voters next November a proposed amendment to the state constitution placing Ohio in the dry column. Scores of letters received daily from practically every county in the state indicate, league officials believe, that conditions are ripe for such a campaign.

In the event that such a campaign is waged, it is not expected to begin, so far as public meetings are concerned, until April, because of the dry campaign now being conducted throughout Ohio as well as in other states in support of the resolution now pending in congress calling for the submission to the various state legislatures of a proposed amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the United States. Action on the resolution is expected to be taken by congress sometime between the first of the year and March fourth, the date of adjournment. While a similar resolution received a majority vote at the last session it was defeated because it required a 2-3 vote.

A series of 225 meetings in Ohio began on November 8, the day following election day, and will continue until December 22. All parts of the state will be visited by prominent dry speakers, under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon league. Among the 16 big champions of the dry cause who have been brought into Ohio are: Former Governor Patterson, of Tennessee; Rev. Sam Small, of Georgia; former Congressman Richard P. Hobson, of Alabama; John G. Woolly, former prohibition candidate for president, and Mrs. Dr. Caroline Geyser, of Battle Creek, Michigan. The aim of this campaign is to stimulate public sentiment to the point where Ohio's congressmen and senators will feel compelled to vote for the resolution. Big crowds and intense enthusiasm are features of all these meetings, according to reports reaching league headquarters here.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE OPENS AT TRINITY CHURCH

The first week-day meeting of the Sunday school institute, to be held in Lima at Trinity Methodist church, was well attended this afternoon and much interest is manifested in the sessions. Evening meetings will be held during the week, as well as afternoon sessions. Among the prominent speakers will be Prof. T. W. Shannon, Dr. Franklin McElfresh, of Columbus; Dr. Josephine A. Bennett, of Sistersville, West Va.; Mrs. W. D. Van Voorhies and Dr. Edwin W. Thornton. The meeting is held under interdenominational auspices. The public is invited.

GRACE M CONNELL IS VICTIM OF DEATH

Mass over the body of Miss Grace M. Connell, 21 years old, who died at her home early Sunday morning, will be celebrated at St. John's Catholic church on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Father John Mizer, pastor, will officiate. The body will be laid to rest at Gethsemani.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Anna Connell, of 114 1-2 South Main street. In February she was attacked with kidney trouble and suffered greatly. She recovered and in May was stricken with appendicitis. She was the last of Mrs. Connell's large family to pass away.

She was born in Michigan on November 12, 1895. During her illness many friends called to see her. She was a patient sufferer. Her death is regretted by a wide circle of South Side friends.

SHOT BY FELLOW HUNTERS.

ELKTON, Md., Nov. 20.—Cecil Creswell, of Cowenton, Cecil county, while gunning for rabbits, was fatally shot by Walter Marcus, of Elkton, and died at Union hospital. Marcus fired at a rabbit, the shot striking Creswell in the head. He was 39 years old.

CROW BANQUET AT THE GROVE WILL BE NOTABLE AFFAIR

Political Leaders of State Renown Are on Speaking Program.

COLUMBUS GROVE, Nov. 20.—The first annual crow banquet will be held in Columbus Grove on Tuesday night. Governor-elect James M. Cox, when extended an invitation Saturday, stated he feared he can not be present, because of the hunting trip he begins this week in the wilds of Kentucky with his former secretary, George F. Burba.

Governor Frank B. Willis will be present and deliver an address, as will Hon. Ralph D. Cole of Findlay. Senator Atlee Pomerene will also speak. Congressman-elect John S. Snook, of Paulding, who will represent the Fifth Ohio district at Washington, is on the program for an address.

Hon. N. E. Matthews, whom Snook defeated, will have a place at the table. Hon. A. P. Sandies of Ottawa, Congressman-elect B. F. Welty of the Fourth Ohio district and politicians of state-wide reputation in 16 counties of northwestern Ohio, will attend.

The Rev. A. S. Watkins, who was active in the recent campaign as candidate for United States senator on the prohibition ticket, will be one of the speakers. He is at present pastor of the Methodist church at Columbus Grove.

Plates will be laid for 400 at tables spread in the large garage owned by Edward McCrate on North High street. Women of the Civic league will prepare and serve the dinner. Roast young turkey will be the piece-de-resistance. Republicans will pay for the dinner because of the fact that the wager was based on gubernatorial election in Ohio.

PROPRIETOR IS GIVEN BIG FINE

Isaac Bryant, 55, colored, who was taken in a raid Saturday night, on a charge of running a gambling room, was arraigned in criminal court this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $100 and costs. Twenty-three other negroes who were arrested and for whom Bryant put up a $10 bond each, were released.

Six "coppers" headed by Captain Grant, made the raid on the house, located at 219 East North street. Two policemen entered the place while the remainder of the squad surrounded the building. When they saw the police they made a scramble to escape. The negroes were lined up outside the building and marched to police headquarters.

INFANT DAUGHTER DIES.

Carol Conaghan, one-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conaghan of 512 East Franklin street, died at the City hospital Saturday night. A week ago she was born at the institution, where her mother is now a patient.

The Rev. O. E. Knepp of the First United Brethren church, conducted funeral services, held today at the Williams and Davis mortuary. Interment was at Woodlawn.

ETERNAL FEMINE

HER DESK was piled up with interesting things—samples of creamy deckle-edged papers, beautiful photographs of outdoor scenes, cover designs in water color. Before her lay a little booklet of blank paper, on which she was pasting soft brown half-tones of the photographs, and sketching attractive lettering below.

"This is to be the circular of a summer camp for next year," she said, in answer to the visitor's question. "They must be sent out early in the spring, you see, to interest the parents of young girls who may be sent to camp for the summer. The spring vacation is often the time at which such matters are settled."

She was a young college woman who had developed the interesting and lucrative vocation of designing and writing descriptive booklets for persons who wished a non-commercial, artistic presentation of their work.

"You see," she explained, "the directors of private schools, summer camps, exclusive small shops, and persons who do various kinds of novel, individual work, must have a circular, folder, or booklet to send out to prospective patrons. The big advertising concerns do this sort of thing, of course, but often a special, informal kind of circular is wanted—written, perhaps, by a woman in order to attract women of a certain leaning, or to make a particular appeal to young girls."

"It was quite a casual occurrence which started me to work along this line. Just after I left college, a friend of my mother, who had established a summer colony for artists and musicians on a beautiful mountainside, remarked to me one day that she wanted a 'different' booklet to send out for the next season. In talking it over, an idea for the cover popped into my head, and it pleased her. She was extremely busy on other plans for the colony, so she asked me if I would not take over the entire make-up of the little circular, choosing the paper and type, finding an artist to carry out the design for the cover, selecting photographs, and writing a brief description of the community, at which I had spent a week-end the preceding summer."

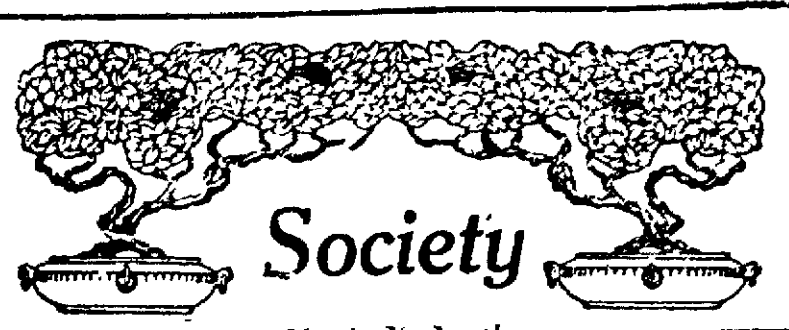

"That was the beginning, for our quaint little book was successful, in that it attracted many newcomers the following season. On the recommendation of the friend who gave me the order for it, I got an order from a couple of girls who had established a roadside curio shop on Cape Cod, and from the head of a private school for boys in New York city. Then a concert singer whom I met at the mountain colony engaged my services for her folder, with its neat comment, repertoire, and general information—and after that it was all settled what my vocation was to be."

"From the work of planning pamphlets and circulars, my vocation has come to include the designing of quaint and artistic posters, labels, cards, signs, and trade-marks. Nowadays every little shop has its novel monogram or symbol, and the many women who are making lace or preserves or candlesticks or bonbons are seeking for odd and individual printed matter to describe them."

A lovely dance frock for the debutante is developed here in flesh-colored tulle, fashioned on extremely simple lines. The cunning jumper bodice with its outlined edge of fur is extremely becoming on the young girl. The double tier of pointed web serves beautifully as sleeves, for usually the young girl needs this bit of softness. Especially interesting is the apron tunic with its edge of fur.

Philadelphia It would seem, is going into chorus singing with enthusiasm. General diffusion of education in sight-singing appears to be one of the principal objects which the promoters have in view. As in many other communities, a large percentage of the people of Philadelphia can sing, but only "by ear." The idea behind the present movement is to increase the number of those who can sing "right straight off" from their note. The whole country will, no doubt, confess to a natural and an amiable longing to hear the Philadelphia chorists, when it is entirely ready to begin—C. S. M.

Into a room whose chief color note was a soft, joyous blue, came a guest who exclaimed at once over its beauty.

"Yes, I think this is a beautiful room," said the hostess. "In fact, I think blue is one of the happiest, most lovable of colors, and recently I have been getting rid of some of the silly old notions that have, in some unaccountable way, become connected with it, or rather, I am reversing the tradition of the blues. Blue means always and always a gloomy meaning, of me until I remember a now I loved blue. Now a 'blue Monday' or any other day means a day of blue sadness, blue hills, blue flowers in the sun, blue birds, blue singing, blue thoughts. In the same way the old notion of having the blues has come to have a new and foolish meaning. To have the blues means to have a sunny, cheerful, gay thought, to laugh, to think of others, to turn away from the depression which we used to call the blues, but which ought to be called 'the blues' if anything. I refuse to have so lovely a thing as azure, sky blue, baby blue, forget-me-not blue, bluebird blue, or even indigo blue, connected with the dumps—on Monday or any other day!"

"The forerunner of the modern hoopskirt was the invention of an industrious couturiere called Mlle. Margot, during the reign of Louis XVI," remarked M. de Glatfelter, in a recent lecture in New York City. "She devised a sort of underskirt and sewed circles on it so as to make them collapsible. This garment was in favor nearly a full century, until 1745."

it, which was called the "traquenard." Wig makers, not to be outdone by the dressmakers, invented high and marvellously intricate coiffures. At the court of Louis XIV, evening dresses were the real ceremonial costumes, and these were worn even when going to church.

The tailored skirt of today seems to have descended directly from the time of Louis XIV. Ladies wore long redingotes, waistcoats, and severely masculine felt hats. It was during this period, too, that the barber Leonard invented an opera coiffure nearly 20 inches high. It was of such height that ladies wearing it could not go through doorways without stooping, and as this was undignified and ungraceful, another invention followed which permitted a lady to raise or lower her coiffure as a man does his opera hat.

"Around 1789 ladies began to wear Revolutionary gowns of red, white and blue, with ribbons and cockades to match. Bonnets called 'sleepers' were also introduced.

"Napoleon was extremely particular about the dress of the ladies of his court. They were obliged to wear sheath skirts with flowing trains, and a profusion of pearls and diamonds. The famous shawl appeared at this time and was worn from 1803 to 1814. Buskin shoes were worn by some women. The day before the coronation, Napoleon assisted in the rehearsal of Josephine's toilette. She had a marvelous gown of satin bespangled with golden and silver beads. Her corsage and top sleeves were sewn with real diamonds. Her shoes were of white embroidered velvet. The splendid mantle, many yards long, was of purple and red, doubled under with white Russian ermine."

The Girls' Social Service club will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow evening with Miss Ethel Simpson, on West Wayne street.

Skirts to be Longer But Higher Priced

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—They'll be longer next spring—down to her ankles at least. Prices will be at least 25 per cent higher than at present.

That's the verdict of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' association, according to President A. A. Cohn and Secretary Philip Frankel, both Clevelanders.

The cut of the garments is to be long and straight, rather than frilly and voluminous as during this season. Linings of the coats are to be brighter than the coats themselves. The skirts are to be lengthened to the ankles, and the trimmings will be placed to emphasize the lines of the garments.

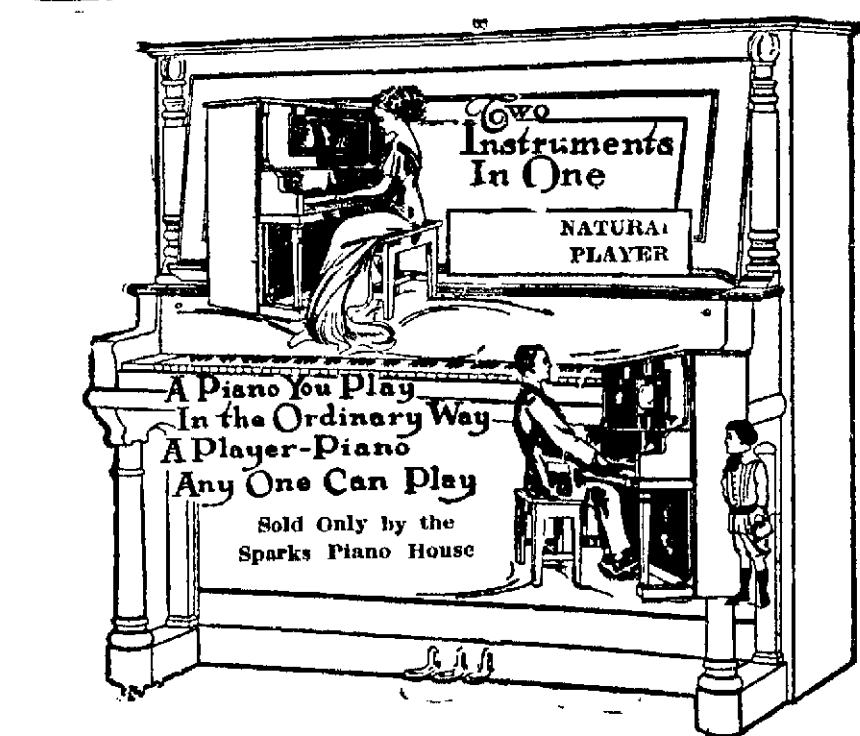

"Elephant's breath green," is one of the new favored shades, although mustard and salmon will be much in vogue. Huge shirred and plaited pockets, long trails of silken fringe, loose stitching, variegated embroidery and large buttons form some of the trimmings.

MAN HE AIDED TOOK HIS CLOTHES, HE SAYS.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—A candidate for the honors of the "most ungrateful man" appeared in municipal court here. He is John Barry. John Williams, his accuser told this story: "I met this man, and he begged for a dime for some beans. I took him into a lunchroom and we had supper, and then we went and washed it down, and then we went to the movies. Then Barry said he knew a good lodging house, so we went there. I paid for the bed. We were assigned lockers and undressed and put our clothes in them. I got up in the morning, and my locker was empty and so was Barry's bed. But he had left his clothes behind."

Matrimonial Fables

The Story of a Wife Who Learned a Lesson
BY DOROTHY DIX

ONCE upon a time, there were two Beautiful Maidens who married Two Clever Youths who were Up and Coming Men, but who had still their Fortunes to make.

One of these Maidens was a Noble Young Creature, with Altruistic Ideals who held Exalted Conceptions of a Wife's Sacred Duty.

"I opine," she said as she communed with her own soul, "that it is a Wife's place to Help her Husband Rise in the World, and so I shall endeavor to do my Part by being an Industrious and Thrifty Side Partner."

"It is True that I am not by Nature one of those Domestic Drudges who find their Real Affinity in a Gas Range. Neither do I Care for Clothes, whose Only Recommendation is that they will Wear Well. Nor can I say that I Prefer the Movies to Grand Opera, and if I consulted by Tastes I would rather Burn the Long Green than Pinch a Nickel until I make the Buffalo squeal."

Thereupon this Devoted Wife rolled up her Sleeves and got busy with the Pot and Pans, and concocted Stews that would have been Ragouts in a Deutches and cost Real Money in our Best Restaurants.

She also made her own Clothes, and they looked like it, and she Pretended to be Perfectly Satisfied in a Cheap Flat, instead of Bewailing her Fate because she could not live in an Expensive Apartment.

B, doing these things she was Enabled to Exist very Economically, and observing this her Husband said to himself:

"What is the Use of my Exerting myself to make much money? My Wife Enjoys Working, and has such Simple Tastes that it is not Necessary for me to Hump myself to Support an Extravagant Family. I will, therefore, take Life Easy, and Devote myself to Gold instead of Chasing the Elusive Dollar."

So the Man Slowed down to Second Speed, and Got Fat and Lazy, and became one of those Men who Let Well Enough Alone.

Now the Second Woman also went aside and Communed with Her Own Soul, and she said to herself:

"I opine that the Best is Not Good Enough for Me. And I am not so much concerned with Doing my Duty by my Husband as I am in Seeing that he Does His Duty by Me."

"I desire a Fine House with Plenty of Servants, a Twelve-cylinder Automobile, much Glad Raiment, and a Quart or so of Pearls. I also find it Good for my Health to go to Winter and Summer Resorts, Cabarets, the Best Plays, and Expensive Restaurants; and it is Up to my Husband to Provide these Domestic Necessities for me."

Thereupon the Wife went forth and Ran up Large Bills that kept the husband Hustling to Pay; and, Observing that he was always on the Job, People began to Praise him for his Energy and to throw Good Things his way, and in course of time he became a Millionaire.

Moral: This fable teaches that the Eyes, "because, if I had not Had to Make Much Money to Support her, I should doubtless have been Contented to Remain a Piker instead of Becoming a Trust Magnate."

"I Owe Everything to my Dear Wife," the Grateful Husband would say with Tears of Thankfulness in his Wife who is a Spur in her Husband's side generally helps him to Win the Race.

Old-Fashioned Quilting Becomes A Modern Trimming

Fashion Uses It on Frocks, Suits and Even on Coats.

NEW YORK.—Little did our grandmothers dream when they sat together and worked and gossiped at their quilting-bees that the quilting they did then would furnish inspiration for dress trimmings for the women of today.

Certainly, the quilting trimming is a very novel idea from the fertile brain of our modern designer. It is generally used in bands at the lower edges of skirts and suit coats and is also used as a decoration for collars, cuffs and pockets. The work is done in machine-stitching and usually the same color silk as the background is used.

The sketch above illustrates the conventional diamond-shaped design but other designs of a less conventional character are also utilized. In this attractive one-piece frock of satin, the belt and the lower edge of the skirt are quilted. Some suits of satin and silk have been seen with quilting on the collar, cuffs and pockets.

Imitations of the quilting idea have also been carried out in heavier materials. For instance, a very good looking full length coat was worked with heavy navy blue silk in the diamond shaped background. The large square pockets were entirely covered with this work, a touch of it was on the cuffs, and the collar also had some of it. Mustard is one of the very popular colors for separate coats. Numbers of them are seen at present, some unrelieved by any trimming, and others with collars of Hudson seal or other black furs. Some of them also have bands of fur at the edge of the sleeves or of the coat itself.

The Present Styles Very Youth-Giving The woman who has not invested in a one-piece frock this season must feel very much out of the swim of fashion. As the days go by, more and more of these frocks are seen in serge, broadcloth, wool jersey, velour, velvet and velveteen. When a top coat is not necessary, a shoulder cape of fur is the usual accompaniment. Straight lines continue to be the most approved in this type of dress, for the fashion these days is to be slim, and no better way of obtaining this effect is to be had than by wearing dresses cut on these lines. Fashion dispenses these youth-giving styles most liberally at present, and it is no wonder that women have taken so kindly to them for they make them look young and slender.

For producing straight effects nothing gives better results than the long unbroken panel and consequent the panel is now enjoying its day of popularity. A smart effect is shown here in the dress of black velvet with a satin panel extending from neck to hem. The bulging pockets add to the style of this dress and do not detract from the slender effect. Panels are not all stitched down like this one. Some of them hang free over the dress and are known as floating panels. A dress which has been specially admired was of dark blue crepe meter, with long straight panels back and front in the form of an over-dress. These were in a lighter shade of blue crepe meter. They extended from shoulder to hem and were confined at the waist by a loosely-tied cord. The top of the front panel was embroidered in silver across the front.

New Russian Blouses. Russian blouses are gaining a stronger hold day by day and they have become so universally popular that the name now stands for almost any kind of a blouse that has a peplum. The high collar and side closing which once typified the Russian blouse are no longer symbols of it, for this blouse has taken on manifold new forms. Many of them slip on over the head or are opened in front revealing a contrasting vest; and as to the high collar, it has been quite usurped by the flat rolling collar. Some very dainty models are of Georgette in the prevailing suit colors trimmed with gold or silver thread embroideries. The peplums are sometimes finely pleated, sometimes gathered, and very often they are adorned with little fancy pockets. Blouses of this type are made up for dressy wear and they are not only in self-toned Georgettes and chiffons but in flowered and Oriental designs in these sheer fabrics. They are worn with suits or separate skirts.

Black satin and black velvet are very smart for separate skirts. Some pretty striped velvets with colored stripes on a black background are also used for skirts, and they are wonderfully attractive.

THE WELSH SINGER!! Masterpiece 5 reeler, Royal 5c.

COLUMBUS.—Palm beach suits and straw hats were worn in Columbus last night. The occasion was a men's social at King Avenue M. E. church, the four seasons being represented by clothing and decorations.

NEW YORK.—Because he is too short to join the United States army, Vily Pelech, a Galician, who secured his first naturalization papers a week ago, has returned his papers, declaring "no army, no citizen."

LORAIN.—On the 25th anniversary of his entrance into the barber trade, Theodore Curtis has a record of 248,890 shaves.

DEMON DEPUTY "DEFIES" SHERIFF TO OUST HER

The Panel is Enjoying Popularity These Days.

MISS CONSTANCE KOPP HASKENSACK, N. J.—Miss Constance Kopp, known as the "Demon Deputy-Sheriff" of Bergen county, is slated to lose her job, according to John W. Courter, the newly-elected sheriff of that county, but Miss Kopp refuses to see it that way and defies Courter to remove her. Miss Kopp asserts that civil service regulations protect her from summary removal, and a fight in the courts threatens. Sheriff Courter says that he can find nothing for his only woman deputy to do and that therefore he must dispense with her services.

Miss Kopp has figured in a number of sensational arrests and has quite a number of heroic achievements in the apprehension of malefactors to her credit. She was appointed by former Sheriff Robert Heath.

Amusements

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES.

"The Rainbow Princess," the new Paramount photoplay at the Faurot, is one of the most delightfully entertaining pictures produced by the Famous Players in some time. It is an appealing story of circus life with an abundance of local color but no gr-at pretense to originality of plot. Just when we have been keyed up to expect an unconventional story, the usual long-lost daughter is brought in so that the little "Rainbow Princess" can be proved a relation of the Judge's.

Ann Pennington is a most bewitching circus dancer and her Hawaiian and other dances add considerable charm to the picture. She practically trips her way through the picture on the light fantastic toe, and her work has at all times sympathy and spirit. The supporting cast is without exception deserving of commendation.

The settings are in large part those of a circus, and the tan-bark and sawdust atmosphere is well maintained. The collection of freaks, the fat woman, the living skeleton, and the dwarf add no little humor to the picture.

Appeals and thrills vie with each other. The balloon ascension and the rescue from the pond contrast strongly with the pathos of the dining room scene at which the adopted girl entertains her circus friends. The girl's relations prove false, but she remains in the family by marriage with the old judge's son.

The photography is about the finest that has come from the Famous Players studios in some time, and there are excellent lighting effects without number. A new Bray Cartoon, "Colonel Heeza Liar Gets Married," some fine animal studies by Dr. Dilmars and the Pathe News are also on the attractive program. Last times tonight.

ORPHEUM.

The Orpheum theatre will change its policy for the first three days of this week when Manager Deardourff will present today, Tuesday and Wednesday, the world's greatest picture favorite Mary Pickford in the where Company C of Lima is earliest release of the special Mary Pickford picture productions "Less Than the Dust" a stupendous motion picture feature in seven massive reels. In "Less Than the Dust" the full scenery they have tried to de-scene are laid in India and Eng-land and are of great beauty, the atmosphere, color and picturesque-ness of the former locale being re-good feature. Also is shown a produced with wonderful effect. Vogue two-reel comedy entitled Mary Pickford will be seen as a little castaway who, having been de-ported by her father, a former British army officer, is adopted by a Hindu sword maker, and reared among the natives. The role gives her full play for her girlish charms, quaint humor, and sunny person-ality. Rescuing a dashing young of-ficer when he is wounded in a con-flict between British troops and the natives, she wins his love. Later when it develops that the girl is of English birth they are married. Scenically the picture is of un-usual beauty and effectiveness. A street scene in India, with its cosmopol-itan throng, little shops, narrow by-ways, and vari-colored bazaars re-alistically represented. Another shows the great temple and pool of sacred water while there is a view at night of the barracks, and the call-ing out of the troops. Nearly 300 people are used in the scenes, among them being a hundred native Hin-dooes. As an added feature Mrs. J. C. Thompson, Jr., will sing the beautiful Mohammedan serenade "Less Than the Dust." Four per-formances daily 1 p. m., 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. and 9 p. m.

FLORENCE TURNER TODAY.

The many favorites of Florence Turner will learn with pleasure of her appearance at The Royal today in another of her Masterpiece fea-tures "The Welsh Singer." This re-mantic drama is filled with many beautiful scenes, starting in the hills and dales of Wales, showing circus life in Europe, revealing the doings in a London concert hall and showing the life of a prima donna in a grand opera troupe. This is pronounced to be one of her best productions and bids fair to com-mand capacity audiences.

HELEN HOLMES TODAY.

For the benefit of the many who were not successful in securing ad-mission to the Royal yesterday to see "The Lass of the Lumberland" which is creating so much comment in Lima, this episode "First Blood" will be shown at Dreamland again today. The work of Hazardous Helen reminds us of her splendid work in the "Girl and the Game" and her cleverness in the prevention of a wreck is one of the thrilling fea-tures of the film. Other thrills are the jump from the engine to the cars loaded with logs and the battle between Helen's lumberjacks and the opposing crew. Taken amidst the towering pines, this picture is picturesque as well as thrilling.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AGAIN.

At the Strand today Charlie Chaplin will make his last bow to Lima audiences in his two-reel ravine entitled "Night Owl." This is very pleasing and will no doubt satisfy those looking for laughs. Besides this is displayed a two-reel feature entitled "The Ballville."

ANOTHER BLUEBIRD TOMORROW

At the Royal tomorrow will be an-other Bluebird "Behind the Lines" and which is of especial interest to see "The Lass of the Lumberland" which is creating so much comment in Lima, this episode "First Blood" will be shown at Dreamland again today. The work of Hazardous Helen reminds us of her splendid work in the "Girl and the Game" and her cleverness in the prevention of a wreck is one of the thrilling fea-tures of the film. Other thrills are the jump from the engine to the cars loaded with logs and the battle between Helen's lumberjacks and the opposing crew. Taken amidst the towering pines, this picture is picturesque as well as thrilling.

Yokohama is a typical treaty port, with a few fine buildings, a Bund, and foreigners. The foreign conces-sion is made up of two parts: the Bluff, where the foreigners live, and the settlement, where they work. Bluffs, concessions and settlements have characterized the relations be-tween the self-consciously superior European and the shrewd Oriental on more than one occasion. But the old bluffs are not working as well as formerly, few concessions are being made, and those are made to the Orientals, and settlements are scarce. There are a score of open questions between the superior foreigner and the down-trodden native now.—The Christian Herald.

Youths Are Becoming Popular On Big Elevens

By Frank G. Menke.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The pickin' meadows gradually are becoming peopled with youths who are doing stunts that merit their consideration for jobs on the mythical All-American elevens.

The achievements of Harry LeGore, of Yale, so far have given him ranking among the greatest half-backing persons on the profess. There isn't anything that LeGore cannot do—and do exceptionally well.

Andy Hastings, star Pittsburgh backfield, has shown with especial brilliancy so far. He was ranked by some as an All-American man in 1915. This season he has played far beyond anything ever shown before. Unless he slips back during the games to come—a possibility remote to an extreme—Hastings will take unto himself a first class job on the All-Star team.

Casey, the Harvard backfield "bud," is ranked as "a second Mahan." But how will Casey show when he is put to the Yale and Princeton tests? However, another Crimsonite, is being touted strongly up in Cambridge for his fine work. Then there is Berry, the great Penn State halfback, who, almost unaided, beat the powerful Penn State crew.

McCreight, of Washington & Jefferson, never a flashy player, has been exhibiting in a way this year that stamps him as one of the really great. McLaren, of Pittsburgh, is another star, a plunging halfback that reawakens memories of "Wee Willie" Heston. Oliphant, picked by many last season, is performing in the same dazzling manner for the army this season. Tibbott, of Princeton, also has earned plenty of applause.

Sprafka, of Minnesota, stands out just now as one of the best halfbacks in the West. He has been responsible in the main for the great scoring done so far by his team. Driscoll, of Northwestern, is another whose work has scintillated. Harley, of Ohio State, has starred in every game—and in every department of the game.

Among the other halfbacks and fullbacks whose great work merits them much thought are:

Mueller, (Cornell); Maulbetsch (Michigan); Macombe (Illinois); Watkins (Colgate); Pollard (Brown); DeHart (Pittsburgh); Briggs (Princeton); Bingham (Yale); Hubbell (Colgate); Gerish (Dartmouth); Thielecher (Dartmouth); Ingram (Navy); Nuss (W & J); and Carlson (Minn.).

Turning to quarterbacks, one is confronted instantly with Long of Minnesota. If any "pivot man" has performed in a more remarkable way this year than Long, his name is unknown just now. He is a wizard—brainy, fast, courageous, a grand kicker, and an uncanny runner. Next to Pete Russell, he probably was the greatest quarter in the West a year ago. Now Pete is gone and Long is the best in the West—if not in the country.

Star quarterbacks are rather scarce in the East. Shiverick, of Cornell, looks like one of the quarterbacks in the East, with Anderson, of Colgate, close up. Purdy (Brown), Meahan (Syracuse); Morrow (Pittsburgh); Robinson and Murray (Harvard); Eddy (Princeton); and Stobbs (W & J), all are good men, but none has flashed his full power so far.

Bob Peck, captain of Pittsburgh, was the All-American center selection by Walter Camp and about 90 per cent of the critics last year. The Panther leader's work to date makes it look like re-election for him. Hausen, of Minnesota, sizes up as the best man so far uncovered in the West.

White and Schlechter, the 256 and 248 pound Syracuse guards looked like a peerless pair until that Pitt game. But the way they were forced to give ground before the crashing attack of the Panther backs has lowered their stock. Dadum (Harvard), Petty (Illinois); Hancock (Wisconsin); Nourse (Princeton); Galt (Yale); Neely (Dartmouth); Anderson (Cornell); Wimberly (W & J); Barton (Colgate); Sutherland (Pittsburgh); Hogg (Princeton); and Black of Yale, all have played far beyond the average. Each must be considered when the "picking" day arrives.

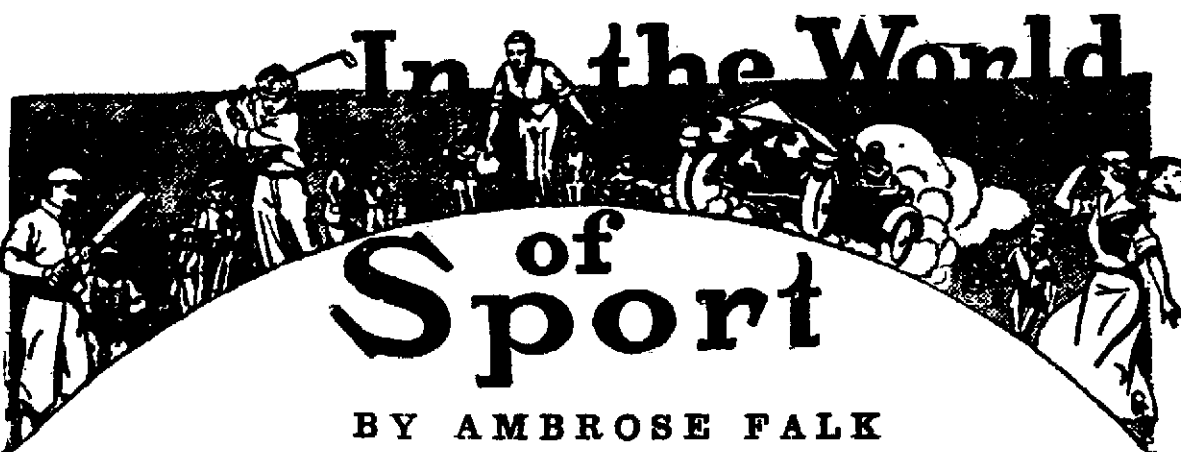

An 18 year old youth named Henry is one of the leaders in the fight for tackle chores. He is the 225 pound W & J linesman. Henry has been smashing lines to ribbons this year and despite his luck has been under most of the punts. He is fast, powerful and fearless.

Among the other tackles who are notched high are Wheeler of Harvard, Thornhill of Pittsburgh, Ward and Farnum of Brown, Horning of Colgate, Cotton of Dartmouth, Jewett of Cornell, Ward of Navy, Jackson of Chicago, Weimann of Michigan, Bennett of Northwestern, Koch of Wisconsin, Mathews of Pennsy., McLean of Princeton, and Seidel of Pittsburgh.

The battle for end positions is a merry one. It involves Higgins of Penn State of All-American calibre, a year ago, Baston of Minnesota, Brelos, Chicago; both Yale wing men; Harte of Harvard, Carlson of Pittsburgh, Highley of Princeton, Meyers of Wisconsin, C. Coolidge of Harvard, Nielson of Colgate, Whitehall of W & J, Dunne of Michigan.

So, you see, this business of picking eleven men from that crop and the others that will grow up during November is going to be quite a job, Osar.

To Battle For Honors Next Sat.

By Merlin M. Taylor.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—It will be Northwestern against Ohio State at Columbus next Saturday in the battling for the 1916 championship of the big nine conference. Both have clean slates and while neither's record is startling, it is consistent. Ohio has defeated Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana. Northwestern has humbled Chicago, Iowa and Purdue, and that without uncovering its best game, according to the coaches of the Purple. There are some critics who refuse to call this a real championship battle in that neither has met Minnesota, which would seem to be the best team in the conference in spite of the early season defeat at the hands of Illinois, which put the Gophers out of the running for the title.

That football is an uncertain game and that he who attempts to do it out is foolish has been amply exemplified in the western conference this season. Neither Northwestern nor Ohio were given a look-in at the beginning of the season. No one would have predicted that Minnesota could have romped over Wisconsin by a score of 54 to 0, as was done Saturday. Neither was it to be expected that Chicago would wallop Illinois 20 to 7. It makes one wonder how the Illinois ever beat the Gophers or Purdue. One thing may explain it. Any time that Macomber, the star of the Zupke eleven is stopped, the whole team is stopped. And that is just what Chicago did.

So it is up to the Purple and the Buckeyes to fight it out for the honors and the winner will be entitled to the figurative crown of a season in which strength on paper has gone for naught and the dope has been shot so full of holes a sieve looks air-tight in comparison.

BEST GAME OF CAREER

Carlson, end on "Pop" Warner's Pittsburgh aggregation of gridiron athletes, has been putting up the best game of his career. He and Herron give Pitt a pair of terminal players that is not excelled by any college team in the country. Herron graduates this year, but Carlson has one year to play.

WOMEN TO ASK VOTE IN RAILROAD SHOPS

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, the woman suffrage party will observe its forty-eighth annual convention in Albany. Open air meetings will be conducted by prominent members of the suffrage movement. Meetings will be held at the Delaware and Hudson and the New York Central railroad shops. On Monday evening Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, chairman of the state woman suffrage party, and Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, vice chairman, will speak at a general open air meeting.

Bronchitis.
When a severe cold settles on the lungs it is called bronchitis. There is danger of its leading to broncho pneumonia, and for this reason it is always best to go to bed and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed until well along towards recovery. Mrs. Charles E. Woodard, Sandy Creek, N. Y., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured me of bronchitis last fall. When I began using it I was so hoarse at times that it was difficult for me to speak above a whisper. I resorted to the use of this valuable medicine and found it very soothing and healing. In a week's time I was well." Obtainable everywhere.

FAIL TO SAVE ROOSEVELT BIRTHPLACE IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Despite an effort to save it, the old four-story house at 28 East Twentieth street, where Theodore Roosevelt was born October 27, 1858, is to be torn down. Several years ago the Roosevelt Home club was organized with a $1 membership to preserve the building as a place of historic interest and many subscribed. The Rough Riders Realty company failed to meet payments on the mortgage, however, and the property has come into the possession of Gustavus L. Lawrence, who will put up a two-story show room on the site.

CRUSHED!

Marion Goes Down To Defeat By 33-6 Count.

The Marion high school foot ball squad went down to defeat at the hands of the Lima Hi eleven, Saturday afternoon at the college grounds by the score of 33-6. The game featured the close of the season of the local grounds between two high school elevens.

About 200 fans witnessed the contest. The home boys were never in real danger of losing their lead. The local team is scheduled to return to Sidney next Saturday, winding up the season schedule. On Thanksgiving day the annual High School Alumni game will take place. 1,200,000 BUY TICKETS TO RETURN TO EUROPE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—About 1-200,000 persons in the United States have bought steerage tickets to return to Europe at the close of the war, according to a story published here. The remigration in a normal year is only 400,000. Resident agents of foreign governments, ticket agents and officials of private "wildcat" banks are charged with painting, seductive tales of what marvels a man with a bit of money will be able to do in war-ridden countries when peace comes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Joe Welling and Ever Hammer, lightweights, are scheduled to go 10 rounds in a no-decision bout here tomorrow night. The last time they met Hammer was given a majority of the newspaper decisions, but his fights since then indicate that Welling was not in the best of shape that night, and as a result Hammer supporters are demanding odds of 6 to 5.

RACINE, Wis., Nov. 20.—Joe Welling and Ever Hammer, lightweights, are scheduled to go 10 rounds in a no-decision bout here tomorrow night. The last time they met Hammer was given a majority of the newspaper decisions, but his fights since then indicate that Welling was not in the best of shape that night, and as a result Hammer supporters are demanding odds of 6 to 5.

Grateful Mothers Tell Experiences

Mrs. T. Neusser, Ben Chalk, Wis. writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cured my boy of a very severe attack of croup after other remedies had failed. Our children cured his children of whooping cough. I recommend it to every one, as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for croup, colds, croup and whooping cough." Mrs. D. Gillespie, Youngstown, O. writes: "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. I tried lots of cough remedies, but she didn't get any better. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to me. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat, and after taking one bottle the cough left her." This sterling old remedy has been in use for years and is just as efficient for adults as for children. It gives relief for irritated and tickling throat, tight and sore chest, grippe and bronchial coughs.

SOUTH SIDE CHURCH CENTER OF INTEREST HOME COMING DAY

Hundreds Attend All Day Services of Song and Sermon.

Brief History of the Congregation Which Was Formed in 1897.

Nearly 725 persons attended the Sunday school session held yesterday morning at the South Side Church of Christ, as the initial service in Homecoming day. While this number did not exceed the previous record of 922 in attendance on Easter day of 1915, the school was enthusiastic in interest and every available space was packed. From every part of the city aged and infirm were conveyed to the church in automobiles.

At 9 o'clock the orchestra, under the direction of S. T. Faudree, began their program. Mrs. Cecil Franklin led the song service. Fred Engle opened the mission topics.

Mrs. Charles Lathrop, superintendent of the first Sunday school, gave a short talk, contrasting conditions at the South Side church today with those of years ago, when the congregation was first organized. A birthday offering was collected during the Sunday school hour and the Rev. Cecil Franklin, pastor, made every one truly welcome in his address.

A basket dinner in the basement of the church was an interesting feature of the noon hour. Families took their luncheon and several ate together. Informally rejoined and the dinner was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Cecil Franklin led the song service in the afternoon. Old-time hymns were used, in which all joined with spirit. Charter members of the church remaining and who were present had seats together and a number of the members spoke briefly during the afternoon. Members of the Central Church of Christ united in the communion service, held at the afternoon meeting. The church was filled and nearly every one present partook of the bread and wine.

Former Pastor Attends.

The Rev. V. Hayes Miller, of Kendallville, Ind., pastor of the South Side church prior to the coming to Lima of the present pastor, reached Lima at 4.25 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to take part in the service. He had delivered the usual morning sermon to his flock and then boarding a train had some straightway to his former pastorate. He was received with open arms.

The Rev. Frederick C. Lake, who holds a pastorate in Indiana and who preceded the Rev. Mr. Miller, was unable to be with the church on homecoming day.

The Rev. Mr. Miller delivered the evening sermon. The church was filled and one of the largest audiences ever assembled within its walls listened to the Rev. Mr. Miller's voice. At the close of the service, hundreds crowded around to welcome him back and to inquire of his family and good work he is doing in Kendallville. He was the guest over Sunday of the home of Mrs. George East, of 416 Prospect avenue. He will remain in the city until Tuesday morning, visiting with former parishioners.

The success of the exercises largely were due to invitations sent out the past few weeks to former members and friends of the church all over the United States. Special decorations were used to mark the services. Fragrant blooms lent their beauty to the church. Over 1,000 are enrolled in Sunday school of this church, with over 600 present every Sunday.

History of the Church.

The history of this church organization is one that is interesting in that what was originally conceived as a struggling mission has become one of the largest and most substantial church organizations of the city.

On the afternoon of the Lord's day January 10, 1897, at the home of L. E. Cowles, a few of the members of the Church of Christ, on West Wayne street, Lima, met and discussed the feasibility of organizing a mission on the south side. To this end a meeting was called at the home of L. E. Cowles.

Israel Conrath was elected chairman of the meeting and on motion L. E. Cowles, seconded by Pears, it was unanimously decided that an effort be made to establish a mission on the South Side. A committee of three was appointed, being Cowles, Pears and Miss Belle Murray. The committee to frame a request to the mother church for letters of dismission to such persons as would join the mission.

Steps were at once taken toward organization, and instead of making the organization a mission as was first intended, it was decided to organize a regular church.

J. V. Updike, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., came to perfect the organization which was done on the evening of March 2, 1897, at the Congregational church.

The following officers were elected: Elders—W. N. Fautrot, A. Clark, L. E. Cowles, H. W. Smith. Trustees—Geo. East, Geo. Daniels, Philip Dingleline. Clerk—H. W. Pears. Financial Secretary—Miss Belle Murray.

Treasurer—Geo. Daniels. Superintendent of Sunday School—Miss Lella McGuire.

Immediately upon the establishment of the church grew very rapidly and many people found in this organization a wholesome brotherhood and communion so entirely genuine that it has come to mean a bulwark of Christianization and a great factor in the social and religious life of South Lima. Seven different ministers have served this congregation: J. P. Myers, Clarence Mitchell, G. H. Sims, M. C. Veri Wilson, F. C. Lake, V. H. Miller and the present pastor Cecil Franklin.

Of the several superintendents who have had charge of the Bible school at least one of the former and the first one elected was present for the Homecoming—Mrs. Chas. Lathrop who lives outside of Lima.

Evening Sermon.

That every Christian, as well as every preacher or missionary, is called to extend the benefits of salvation to a seeking world and that he falls in his duty unless he so acts, was the conclusion brought out by the Rev. V. Hayes Miller in his sermon. He spoke from the subject, "The Church and World Conquest."

He attended the recent convention of "Church of Christ in Des Moines and brought back many thoughts from the gathering. Thirteen years ago he attended a similar convention in Detroit. Reports, he said, showed an increase of $600,000 to $1,632,000 for money to be used for missions.

"What does the devil care about our preaching of the gospel, to all the world, so long as he can direct our plan of financial work. With his hand on the pocketbook, we could talk until we had exhausted ourselves and if no offering was forthcoming, our efforts would be in vain," the Rev. Mr. Miller stated. He said that money was absolutely necessary to church work as to any other department of life.

"Latin-America," he said, "supports 531 missionaries, although there are 70 millions of people. Our own Church of Christ should take the largest part in this great work, because of our simple presentation of the gospel. One-fifth of the people in Latin-America know not God and four-fifths are not allowed to read the Bible.

"Africa, with its 130 millions of people, has a struggle between Christ and Mohammed and the next generation will determine the spiritual leader and savior of that world. India, with its 300 millions of people, saw 37,500 baptized in the Methodist faith last year, but 152,000 were refused, because the teachers refused to instruct the heathen converts.

"The need of workers is apparent everywhere. China, with its 400 millions of people, would do well, so Morrison, the great apostle, said, if at the end of the 19th century there would be 1,000 converts. But he said, there was 100,000. Now there are over 300,000. The land of China's door is open to all calling—calling for helpers."

Told of Immigrants.

The Rev. Mr. Miller took up the immigrant proposition. He said that over 40 million of the population today is foreigners, and 42 per cent of the coming generation," he declared, "would be born of the 10 per cent of the present generation. The population of the coming years will be largely from the foreign element.

"We take care of the physical and mental development of the foreigner but what about his spiritual development? In most cases, it is practically neglected.

"Canada supports 840 missionaries at a cost of $1,300,000. When the call to arms came, there was a ready response with 302,000 persons, at a cost of a million dollars a year. Would to God there was such a response in behalf of this blessed missionary work.

"Of the billion, six hundred million people in the world today, half of that number can not read, have no physician and know not Christ. Twenty-five million die yearly. And yet there is three times as much suffering in the heathen lands as in the war zone.

"As Christians we owe to all the world, all that Christ means to us. America can do for these hungry in spirit and thirsting for the word of God if she will. If she will not, she is losing her golden opportunity.

"Will you go? Are you ready? If not, will you not give your money to aid those who can and will go to carry this great message of redemption to weary, sin-sick souls who know not and never can know the Christ?"

JUNIOR HIGH TO BE ESTABLISHED

Shorter Lunch Hour Will Also be Adopted by Board.

One of the latest contemplated improvements of the board of education is the establishment of a junior high school in the new structure that is to be built on Pine street between Vine and Franklin streets. Under this arrangement pupils in the eighth and seventh grades will be sent to this building and thus eliminate the congestion that now exists in the Lincoln, Whittier and Washington buildings.

If this plan is adopted it is likely that the former plan in vogue in this city a number of years ago of dismissing school an hour earlier by compelling pupils to bring their lunch will again be enforced. It is also proposed to establish a cafeteria in the basement of the building. Under this arrangement the new high school would have six grades.

Charging Seasons Bring Colds.

"Stuffed-up head," "clogged-up nose," "tight chest," "sore throat" are signs of cold, and Dr. King's New Discovery is sure relief. A dose of this combination of antiseptic balsams soothes the irritated membrane, clears the head, loosens the phlegm, you breathe easier and realize your cold is broken up. Treat a cold persistently; half-way measures leave a lingering cough. Take Dr. King's New Discovery until your cold is gone. For 47 years the favorite remedy for young and old. SULLIVAN GIVES MAILING ADVICE

The Lima postoffice is already swamped with large quantities of holiday mail, making it necessary for Postmaster Sullivan to issue orders to employees in regard to successful ways in which to handle the overflow business in a prompt manner.

Persons desiring to send parcels and packages through the mail with the idea that the destination be reached before Christmas, should mail them a week before Christmas. According to the head of the postoffice this precaution is necessary because of the holiday rush.

$22,772 TO HOUSEKEEPER BY WILL; $500 TO HIS SON

BROOKLYN, Nov. 20.—In his will the late Richard H. Atkins of this city left $22,772 of his $20,000 estate to Miss Nellie T. Reynolds, his housekeeper, and only $500 to a son. He also left a burial plot to a cemetery corporation on condition that Miss Reynolds be interred in it with him. By the provisions of the will, any one suing to break it forfeits his or her share, which goes to Miss Reynolds.

Winter Suits and Coats at Bluem's

Invite Attention Tomorrow and All Week

Beautiful Styles and Wonderful Materials

Never in the history of this store have we been able to offer such beautiful fashions in Women's Suits and Coats for Winter. Then, too, the assortment of materials in the many new weaves and shades lend character to this display of fine garments. If you have not yet selected your Winter needs you should do so this week while we have a complete line of sizes in the various weaves and shades. Later, size, material and color lines will be broken and you will be unable to find just what you most wished for. Besides all garments bought later or re-orders will cost us more money. In many cases the price being equal to what we are now offering them.

Hundreds of Fashionable Winter Coats

Most of Them Fur Trimmed

And every woman wants a coat for real cold weather and hard wear. Our coats are made for service as well as style. Only materials of best quality being used in their construction. Among the most called for fabrics are silk velours, wool velours, furtex cloth, Bolivia cloth, satin broadcloth for real dressy wear; kerseys, boucles and novelty weaves for motoring and hard service. All the new shades are present—African brown, plum, burgundy, San Diego, new tans, dark greens, navy and black. Also, a few fancy plaids and checks in styles for sport wear.

A wide range of sizes, too, with plenty of the extra large sizes up to 54 in. bust measure. Prices range—$14.95, $17.75, $19.75, $25.00, $27.50 to $45.00 and up.

Fine Costumes and Street Dresses

Our presentation of fine costumes and dresses for street, afternoon, dinner and evening wear is incomparable in style and materials. We ask your valued consideration of our gowns before making your selection. You will find them everything that could be desired in quality and price.
